U.S. Military Commission Ponders Fate of Yamashita

PROSECUTION ASKS DEATH BY HANGING

Chief Prosecutor Declares Every Reasonable Doubt Shattered

VERDICT ON FRIDAY

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Manila, Dec. 5.—(P)—A five-general U. S. military commission recessed to ponder the fate of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita today after hearing final summations in which the prosecution demanded the death penalty and the defense pleaded for "American justice—acquittal."

It promised a verdict Friday.

Maj. Robert M. Kerr, Portland, Ore., chief prosecutor, declared that "in view of the aggravated nature of the crimes and in view of the measures of the crimes, if death, be carried out by hanging."

Kerr charged that "every reasonable doubt has been shattered by devastating witnesses" against the Japanese army commander, who is accused of condoning innumerable atrocities by his troops in the Philippines.

"There is no doubt of his responsibility and negligence," Kerr said in asking a verdict of guilty and the death sentence.

Col. Harry Clarke, concluding Yamashita's defense arguments, asked the commission to "exemplify the concepts and standards of American justice, the keystone of American democracy, by returning a finding of not guilty."

Defense attorneys closely followed this argument:

1. Yamashita did not permit atrocities.

2. He did not condone, nor did he know of, their commission.

Capt. Milton Sandberg, New York, argued that civilians in Manila—where many atrocities occurred—were many atrocities occurred.

Work for Peace, Prosperity—Hirohito

Scarcity of Holly Berries is Reported

State College, Dec. 5.—(P)—Substitutes will have to take the place of bright-berryed holly for most people's Christmas decorations, A. O. Rasmussen, extension horticulturist of the Pennsylvania State College, reported today.

Late spring freezes hit the east's holly berry crop, but there will be plenty of leaves and stems which can be ornamented with artificial berries, he said.

VITAL ISSUES MAY RESHAPE FUTURE JAPAN

Question of Whether Emperor Helped Push Nation Into War Is Out In the Open

ABDICATION IS ARGUED

By MURLIN SPENCER
Tokyo, Dec. 5.—(P)—Two undercurrent questions whose answers may reshape the future of Japan did Emperor Hirohito help push Japan into the war and should he abdicate—were out in the open today.

Isami Yanaka, independent diet member, asked Minister of State Joji Matsumoto what the government thought about abdication of the emperor, Kyodo news agency said. Yanaka indicated some circles thought abdication possible after Prince Konohe's discussion on the subject with foreign correspondents.

Kyodo quoted Matsumoto as replying that "even to express in public such a thing as abdication is too awesome." The minister added that those who contemplate such a "mistaken" idea were the exception.

Discussion of whether Hirohito helped push Japan into the war came at a plenary session of the house of representatives budget committee. In reply, Premier Kijuro Shidehara told the house he personally believed Hirohito had no war responsibility and added that the occupation authorities have not raised the question with the government.

Today a retired Japanese general, Toshio Nishio, told the Associated Press that Hirohito attended a highly secretive conference held at the imperial palace in late November or early December, 1941, just prior to the war's outbreak. Nishio said the Mikado informed the supreme war council "Japan might have to fight if things didn't improve."

Nishio added, however, that other Japanese have said—the emperor wasn't told a sneak attack on Pearl Harbor would open the conflict.

Insuoke Furuno, who as president of the recently dissolved Domei agency, has been added by General MacArthur to the list of war criminal suspects, said in an interview the press could not prevent war because militarists controlled the sources of news.

He said the field dispatches of Domei correspondents were censored at the source during the war and "even when they returned to give the true situation we had no way of getting it into print."

Furuno, who plans to surrender shortly before the Dec. 12 deadline set by MacArthur, said Japan's navy department delayed announcement of the Pearl Harbor attack and he first heard about it "through monitoring an Associated Press broadcast" from the United States.

EVIDENCE OF PLANNED NAZI AGGRESSION

Goering Accused of Shattering Czechoslovakia's Last Will to Resist Hitler

THREATS OF BOMBING

BULLETIN
Nuernberg, Dec. 5.—(P)—German air force records placed before the international military tribunal today disclosed that Hitler had made definite plans by 1938 to conquer at least seven neighboring countries including Poland and Czechoslovakia. British prosecutors at the trial of 24 top Nazi leaders accused of war crimes introduced a German air force document on plans for establishment of air bases in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia and Austria. The document was dated May 2, 1938—more than a year before World War II actually began.

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Nuernberg, Dec. 5.—(P)—Hermann Goering shattered Czechoslovakia's last will to resist Hitler's war machine with the ultimatum that "half of Prague would be in ruins from aerial bombardment within two hours," the international military tribunal was told today.

American prosecutors at the trial of Goering and 19 other Nazi leaders accused of war crimes laid before the court official German records and French and British diplomatic reports disclosing the Hitler pattern of threats, treachery and broken promises that crushed the Czechs only five months after the Munich pact led British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to proclaim "peace in our time."

In cold detail, the prosecution disclosed the ordeal of Czechoslovakian President Emil Hacha when he was imperiously summoned to Berlin the day before German troops marched across the border on March 14, 1939, and was told that Prague would be bombed if the Czechs fired on the Nazi invaders.

Goering bullied Hacha with the bombing threat if he did not immediately "invite" German troops into his country, according to the report of French Ambassador Robert Goulondre read into the evidence.

Hungary's part in the partition of the little country was shown by a letter to Hitler from Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, in which he told of plans to manufacture a "frontier incident" on March 16, 1939, as a pretext for the invasion of Ruthenia, one of the Czechoslovak provinces.

The day before the German troops poured across the Czech border, Hacha was called to Berlin to receive the ultimatum. Hitler produced evidence disclosed, that the army would move at six o'clock the next morning prepared to use "physical force," Hitler added:

"London and Paris were not in a position to really stand up for Czechoslovakia."

SO-CALLED "WINDS" MESSAGE SIGNALLING BREAK WITH U. S. NOT BROADCAST BY JAPANESE

Check Through MacArthur in Tokyo Fails to Disclose Evidence That Pre-Arranged Signal Was Sent to Nipponese Consuls

SUBJECT OF SHARP CONTROVERSY IN INQUIRY

BULLETIN
Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—Congressional investigators learned today that the late President Roosevelt declined to approve on June 7, 1941, a British-American plan for joint military operations in the event the United States became involved in war. This was brought out in records submitted to the senate-house committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941. They showed, however, that Mr. Roosevelt's military aide, Maj. Gen. E. M. Watson, told war department officials that "in case of war, the papers would be returned to the president for his approval." They also showed that on August 29, 1941, Mr. Roosevelt approved a joint Canadian-United States basic defense plan. Earlier, the committee was told there was no evidence that the Japanese ever broadcast, prior to the Pearl Harbor attack, the so-called "winds" message signalling a break with the U. S.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—Congressional investigators were told today that the Japanese never broadcast a so-called "winds" message signalling a break with the U. S. prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941.

William D. Mitchell, counsel for the senate-house inquiry group, told members that a check through General Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo failed to disclose evidence that the Japanese sent the pre-arranged signal to their consuls.

Missing Borman Joined Death Pact

By JAMES F. KING
Oberursel, Germany, Dec. 5.—(P)—Capt. Hans Reitsch, German aviator who flew the last Nazi plane out of Berlin has told U. S. Counter intelligence investigators that the missing Martin Borman joined in a death pact with Hitler a few hours before the German capital fell.

The blonde, 33-year old pilot gave a graphic description of the final hours of Hitler and his companion in a Reichschancellery bunker, but said she left upon the fuhrer's orders before suicides were carried out.

The army took her story off the secret list today with the comment that it was "probably as accurate a description as will be obtained of those last days."

Borman, aide to Hitler, chief of the Nazi S. A. (storm troops) and head of the Volksturm, the people's militia called to action in the final weeks of the war, is being tried in absentia by the international military tribunal at Nuernberg for war crimes.

Murray Breaks Sharply With Truman Over Labor Policies

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5.—(P)—Philip Murray, one of the strongest backers of Harry S. Truman in the political campaign of 1944, has broken sharply with him over legislation the president proposes to end labor strife in the United States.

In a softly spoken, but bitterly phrased, radio address, CIO President Murray last night accused the administration of "abject cowardice" and declared "the design" of laws proposed by Truman "is to weaken and ultimately destroy labor union organizations."

Answering President Truman's pleas that workers end strikes and refrain from calling further strikes, Murray declared:

"Our objective is to restore the huge cut in the national pay envelope. Unless we do, clearly America faces bad times. If the workers do not have the purchasing power to buy the goods, the wheels of industry cannot keep turning."

Murray asserted large companies—citing the U. S. Steel Corp. and General Motors Corp.—had flatly refused pay increases and had refused government requests to resume negotiations with the unions.

"Confronted with this situation, American labor, in self-protection and in the interest of the entire nation, have turned to their right to strike," said Murray, and continued:

"This is what the workers of General Motors were compelled to do."

"This is why over half a million steelworkers have voted five to one authorizing a steel strike."

"This is why electrical manufacturers and others are also voting overwhelmingly in favor of strikes."

Senate Votes For UNO Participation

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—The senate turned today to further relief for victims of war after voting, 65 to 7, for active participation in the peace-seeking United Nations Organization.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), planned to step down from the presiding officer's rostrum to try for speedy approval of a $550,000,000 UNRRA Appropriation. It is the final installment of this country's original pledge to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

The house weeks ago approved the last installment and today opened debate on a second $1,350,000,000 pledge.

McKellar well past the dinner hour last night banged his gavel on senate passage of the UNO bill setting up machinery for this country's active role in the infant organization. The measure now goes to the house where Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the foreign affairs committee told reporters he hoped for final passage before the December 20 holiday recess.

A UNO organization meeting is scheduled in London next month.

Dems Meeting To Discuss A New Chairman

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—A new Democratic chairman for Pennsylvania may be decided upon informally in talks here today.

Both the present chairman, Pittsburgh Mayor-Elect David L. Lawrence, and former State Senator John S. Rice of Gettysburg, whose name has been mentioned as a possible successor to Lawrence, are expected in Washington today and are to see Democratic Senators Guffey and Myers.

Lawrence is a frequent capital visitor. Guffey told a reported yesterday Rice has been here several times recently and that there is no particular significance in his visit today.

However, it will be the first time either Lawrence or Rice has been here since Rice's name was mentioned for the chairmanship.

Guffey declined to comment on the reports that Rice is being considered for the chairmanship. So did Myers.

Myers told a reporter he had no conference scheduled today with the other three. He said, however, he would probably see both visitors at some time during the day.

Agreement by Lawrence, Guffey and Myers on a new state chairman generally would be considered as settling the issue. However, the actual naming of a chairman will be done in Harrisburg the (Turn to Page Nine)

SERIES OF ROBBERIES IN ERIE CLEARED UP

Erie, Dec. 5.—(P)—Detective Capt. Roy B. Mong reported today that two Erie men, arrested in connection with a series of burglaries in Erie and vicinity during the past 15 months, have admitted nine thefts involving loot of $85,000.

Mong said the pair, apprehended Sunday in Westfield, N. Y., told of the burglaries under questioning here by State Policemen C. M. Mathias and John Mehalick.

A third Erie man is also detained, pending investigation, and a fourth is being sought, police said. Another man was released yesterday after questioning.

First Tires To Be Released To Civilians Within a Month

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—Tire prospects are looking up.

The first new castings to be released to civilians by the army and navy—about 400,000 of them—will reach the market in about a month.

And these, which bolster hopes for an end to rationing around New Year's, will be followed by surplus offerings of auto, truck and tractor tires at a "sizeable rate" for some time.

This disclosure by a spokesman for the consumer goods division of the War Assets Corporation followed announcement that the government is stepping out of the rubber-from-alcohol business because lower-cost petroleum plants can meet the national demand for synthetic rubber.

The three big plants erected at a cost of $117,000,000 to use grain alcohol for synthetic rubber making are being closed immediately on orders of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Recent new estimates that 300,000 tons of natural rubber will reach the United States from liberated and other areas in the next year made it unlikely, however, that the alcohol plants would see use again.

They are to be placed in "stand-by" condition, ready to resume production in an emergency, said G. B. Hadlock, associate director of the Office of Rubber Reserve, an RFC subsidiary which supervises synthetic rubber production.

Reason for abandonment of the alcohol plants was "purely dollars and cents," Hadlock said, explaining that the cost of alcohol-rubber was 24½ cents a pound compared with 12 or 13 cents for petroleum-rubber. The plants are located at Institute, W. Va., Kobuta, Pa., and Louisville, Ky.

Soviet Union Denounced By A.F.L. Leader

Harrisburg, Dec. 5.—(P)—The Soviet Union exercises "the prerogatives of a dictator" in its relations with conquered European nations says George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor.

Meany was the guest of Pennsylvania Council of Public Employees last night which gave him its annual award for "making the most outstanding contribution to the welfare of the workers."

Devoting most of his speech to Russia, Meany said that in addition to acting as a dictator in Poland, eastern Germany, Czechoslovakia, and the Balkan nations the Soviet Union was "assuming a dominant antidemocratic position in eastern Asia."

While screaming loudly against an imaginary "western bloc" said Meany, "this same nation has set up a chain of dominated states from the North Sea to the Pacific ocean."

He declared that "we want peace, but we don't want peace at the price of having commissars giving orders at the White House."

Turning to conditions on the home front Meany said "the forces of reaction are on the march again" and declared that "there are definite signs that labor will have to fight for its existence."

China's Yuan Will Meet at Nanking

By SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Dec. 5.—(P)—A cabinet spokesman said today that China's executive Yuan would meet in Nanking after Dec. 15th and that under present plans Premier T. V. Soong also would move to the former capital.

The spokesman, P. H. Chang, announced that personnel from various ministries would be established at Nanking within 10 days although the government would remain at Chungking, possibly until next March. Fifteen hundred government workers will be flown to Nanking before Dec. 15, he said.

Meanwhile, vice-minister for Foreign Affairs Liu Chieh announced that Russian-Chinese negotiations for the airborne movement of Nationalist troops into Mukden and Changchun, Manchuria would be concluded within a few days.

Liu said the troops would take over provisional and municipal administrations in the rich northern province.

Judge Hears Testimony In Girl's Murder

Uniontown, Dec. 5.—(P)—Presiding Judge W. Russell Carr heard witnesses today to determine the degree of guilt of 19-year-old Frederick E. "Red" Hauser, ex-sailor, in the death of Fayette City's "Sunshine Girl," pretty 17-year-old Anna Elizabeth Dreyer.

Hauser suddenly changed his plea from innocent to guilty yesterday while the court was still attempting to select a jury to try the case.

The defendant entered a general plea of guilty of murder. This left the degree of penalty up to the court.

Judge Carr immediately began calling witnesses to tell the story of Anna Dreyer's death.

The girl's father, Frederick W. Dreyer, identified clothing found along a lonely highway near Fayette City last Sept. 6 as that which his daughter wore when he last saw her alive. His voice trembled as he spoke.

Joseph Feryok, 30, of Monessen, member of an orchestra playing at the Twin Coaches night club on Route 51, said he had known Miss Dreyer for some time. He said he was going home about 2:30 a. m. the morning of Sept. 1 when he saw the girl talking to a man near the restaurant at which she worked.

Feryok said Miss Dreyer called to him and introduced the man to him as Mr. Hauser.

"She said something about Hauser wanting to take her home," said Feryok. "When I started to leave, I said, 'are you going with Hauser?' She said she was. I helped her into the car and said, 'Good night. Take good care of her.'"

Corp. Charles H. Dewitt, in charge of the Belle Vernon state police substation, told of questioning Hauser the day Anna was reported missing and of being told: "through the iron lung of government control."

Poland Facing A Bitter And Cold Winter

By LARRY ALLEN
Warsaw, Dec. 5.—(P)—Poland, the greatest coal producing country in Europe, is facing a cold, bitter winter because of the lack of sufficient transportation facilities to haul heating fuel from the mines to urban centers.

Shipping from Baltic ports also has been hard hit, since Poland is unable to fulfill her commitments for the exchange of coal with Sweden, Norway, Denmark and other countries for machinery and foodstuffs.

What coal does leave the Silesian mines via railways seldom reaches its destination intact. Government officials estimate conservatively that 15 per cent of all coal shipments is stolen enroute.

Inadequate coal supplies finally delivered to big cities bring fantastic prices. In Krakow and Katowice near the Silesian mines, coal sells for 400 zlotys (about $20) a ton. In Warsaw the price ranges from 6,000 to 14,000 ($300 to $700), beyond the reach of the poor Polish worker who earns on the average eight zlotys (40 cents) an hour.

Cities like Warsaw, Lodz, Gdynia, Gdansk and Bydgoszcz are facing not only a cold winter but also a dark one for the acute lack of fuel is seriously affecting operations of electric power plants. In Warsaw it is no uncommon occurrence for all lights to go off early in the evening. Thousands have to work by candle light after nightfall, which begins about 4 p. m.

Silesian coal production in October averaged 108,000 tons daily, which would total 32,000,000 tons (Turn to Page Nine)

Labor Party's Right To Place On Spring Ballot Faces Delay

Harrisburg, Dec. 5.—(P)—The American Labor Party's right to a place on next spring's primary election ballot faced long delay today as the state election board started returning reports in several counties for additional information.

Mrs. Elizabeth I. Zimmerman, assistant director of the bureau, said these counties had failed to report any American Labor Party votes at the general election last month.

The election board must determine whether the ALP polled sufficient votes on Nov. 6 to equal two per cent of the highest vote cast for any elected officer.

Mrs. Zimmerman said all but five counties had reported their vote in the state-wide election of two superior court justices, with Allegheny and Philadelphia listed among the five missing counties.

She explained that the entire vote must be completed in order to determine the highest vote cast for one candidate. Then the ALP vote must be compiled to determine if the party's total vote equals two per cent of the highest total.

The ALP must also show a vote equal to two per cent of the highest vote cast for winning candidates in 10 counties of the state.

Meanwhile, the Republican finance committee of Pennsylvania reported to the election bureau that it has a balance of $201,432 on hand after spending $232,125 during the past year.

William Hardt, treasurer of the committee, said the organization's balance from 1944, plus contributions received since then, provided the committee with $433,557 for the year.

Hardt listed among the largest individual contributors to the Republican committee: Joseph N. Pew, Jr., $3,000; Joseph R. Grundy, $2,500; and C. W. Woolworth, Lancaster, state secretary of property and supplies, $500.

Bucks Hide From Hunters Obscured By Fog and Snow

Some of the finest buck deer that have been seen in this county in years rode through Warren today on fenders and bumpers of automobiles. Several cars carried two of the fine animals and one string of cars bearing Ohio license plates had 11 deer aboard. Much of the fog that laid over the countryside during the past few days lifted a little today but the fuzzy snow which clung to tree and shrub had affected visibility conditions and had undoubtedly held down the kill. However thousands of nimrods are still in the woods and it is expected that hundreds of the fleet footed animals will yet be killed.

Practically all of the veteran hunters are satisfied that there are plenty of deer in the woods and that there is a generous average of bucks among them. The trouble since the first day of the season is that low visibility with the temperature dropping low sent the short stay fellows home fearful that conditions would be bad for several days.

However the old timers, who come to camps and boarding houses, prepared to stay moved in last Sunday and there has been no appreciable drop in the number of red coated fellows observed. Near Hearts Content, Scandia and Kinzua there are hundreds of hunters. In the Kinzua area near Dewdrop and Morrisons many hunters are in the woods and some fine bucks have been brought down.

Many of the bucks have moved back into the protection of thickets of laurel and evergreen but the good hunters will invade their lairs once the sun shines and visibility is better.

Speakers For Talk-of-Month Club Listed

Meeting in the YMCA activities building last evening, the Talk-of-the-Month Club committee received from the organization's representative the tentative list of speakers available for the proposed winter's lecture course. From the list, the local directors will make a final selection at the close of the membership drive.

The drive is continuing for another week and is open to all interested persons in Warren and surrounding communities. Lectures will be given in Founders Hall of First Methodist church and membership is limited to 400 persons.

Named in the tentative list are Dr. William Stidger, of Boston; James L. Wick, Washington, D. C.; James Bender, New York City; J. N. Eauds, Chicago; Walter Honinger Fisher, Cincinnati; John B. Hughes, of west coast broadcast fame, and Col. M. Thomas Tchou, former secretary to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Citations Are Being Given to War Workers

Men and women of the county who aided in the work of the Council of Defense during the period of emergency due to the war will receive citations for the work done. The citations are being prepared and will be given out at some later date. Several will also receive citations from the state.

In the salvage work of the county many worked long and hard and they will also receive citations for the accomplishment of much to aid in defeating the Axis powers.

Work of preparing the citations is now under way and it entails much work in signing and otherwise getting the certificates completed so that all may be sent out as soon as possible.

HAS RIGHT IDEA

Editor Times-Mirror: Noted in an editorial last evening that "Augie" Karlson, councilman from the Seventh ward has been doing some constructive thinking. He suggests that a project be made for the straightening out of Indian Run. That is the most sensible suggestion made in Council in years of time. Indian Run has absorbed thousands of dollars in years by the nearby runny way Council does business. Now it is proposed to spend a few thousands more by city and Warren County Dairy. Let's follow the Karlson plan, it makes sense. Taxpayer.

Reply Is Made By Westinghouse Co.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5—(P)—Denying that an offer of a 5½ day workweek in its plant, where ever practicable, was "phony," the Westinghouse Electric Corp. said today the plan would increase the take-home pay of the average hourly-paid employee by 15 per cent.

George R. Eucher, president of the company, answered the demand of the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers for "immediate rehiring of all the 20,000 returning war veterans and all employees laid off following the V-E and V-J day," by saying:

"Westinghouse has 27,780 employees in service. It is impossible to rehire them all 'immediately' because more than 25,000 of them either have not been released from service or have not yet approached Westinghouse for their old jobs."

The union statement, issued yesterday, said the Westinghouse offer was merely to use a 5½ day workweek where bottlenecks required immediate production and added: "This has always been a policy of the company. The offer contains nothing new."

VICTIMS OF "DAY OF INFAMY" COMING HOME

Philadelphia, Dec. 5—(P)—The battleships California and Tennessee, two victims of "that day of infamy"—Pearl Harbor—return home to the United States tomorrow almost four years to the day when Japanese planes made their infamous sneak attack.

Both ships completing the last leg of a 15,000 mile journey began Oct. 15 when they lifted anchor in Tokyo bay, will make Philadelphia their first port of entry in the U. S. since Japan surrendered unconditionally.

The California, sunk at Pearl Harbor, will debark 820 officers and enlisted men of the 2,000 now aboard. The Tennessee, battered by Japanese bombs, will debark 1,059 of her 2,013 crew.

SALE OF "E" BONDS REPORTED LAGGING

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5—(P)—Sale of "E" bonds was reported by the War Finance Committee to be "lagging seriously" in the 19th county seat area today, with Five counties have exceeded their general quotas but these—Butler, Crawford, Erie, Lawrence and Mercer—were short on "E" bonds along with the other counties.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5—(P)—The long bedside vigil was ended today for Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Tatro. Their five-year-old son, Eugene, died yesterday in Pittsburgh hospital, a victim of leukemia. His last gesture was a comforting smile to his parents.

His last birthday present, shining white rockinghorse, his father had trudged blocks to find and which he knew Eugene would never ride, stood by the bedside.

In another household there was joy for two-year-old Bobby Wingo was home from Children's Hospital. A few weeks ago doctor despaired of the baby's life. It was suffering from influenza meningitis and a nationwide search was made for 2,000,000 units of streptomycin believed necessary to save him.

The drug wasn't found but Bobby fooled the doctors. He got well, anyway.

ENLARGE PITT AIRPORT
Pittsburgh, Dec. 5—(P)—Allegheny county commissioners have authorized condemnation proceedings for 185 acres of additional land near the north end of the greater Pittsburgh airport. Proceedings for another 20 acres were held up to avoid making more acute a housing shortage. Count Aviation Director John B. Sweeney said the 185 acres is needed to meet the need for terminal facilities.

THE ART OF NAME-CALLING

The other day Senator Wherry of Nebraska chided Senator Connally of Texas for using the word "damn" in some remarks addressed to his colleagues. The word, said the gentleman from Nebraska, "is beneath the dignity of the Senate."

Senator Connally explained that he was quoting someone else when he used the horrid word. Nevertheless he seems to have been about as contrite as a senator ever gets on his home grounds. He withdrew the four-letter embellishment from his discourse. Next morning the Congressional Record, purged of the offending word appeared as chaste as always, though probably making no more sprightly reading than usual.

So the traditional dignity of the Senate was preserved. But sometimes we wish that Congress as a whole would add a little new dignity to its traditional accumulation by outlawing certain epithets, not profane but decidedly opprobrious, which the legislators often toss about in a loose and undocumented fashion.

We refer to such words as Fascist, Communist, America First, Bolshevik and so on, when they are used not factually and with demonstrable proof, but simply for the purpose of slapping down a critic or changing an embarrassing subject.

The use of such words isn't daily occurrence. But over a period of time the members of Congress have polished this practice into something of an art. It was bad enough when it was just the street-corner or bar-room variety of name-calling that we all could understand, if not appreciate. Now, however, the practice shows signs of becoming rarefied and specialized, of assuming a technical complexity which only the initiated can comprehend.

A frightening symptom of this was exhibited by Senator Wheeler of Montana on the very day, incidentally, that Mr. Connally got called down for using the naughty word. In the course of a speech Mr. Wheeler referred to some of his detractors as "internationalists-isolationists."

Now there's a jaw-breaking, mind-staggering insult, no doubt about it. But what does it mean? Internationalist-isolationist. Or you can try it on backward. Isolationist-internationalist. It still gets you nowhere.

Come, come, senator, elucidate. Is this person one who insists that we mind our own business on our own little planet and not get mixed up in quarrels on Mars or Saturn that don't concern us? Or what? Please put us straight. It's bad enough to be annoyed by congressional name-calling. But to be confused by it as well is just too much.

PAYING BIG DIVIDENDS

Warren county is gradually becoming sold on the idea of welcoming hunters, fishermen and other visitors seeking an outing in our woods and on our streams and the little publication by the Chamber of Commerce listing places available for hunters is paying dividends. The influx of hunters has left a trail of money in the towns of the county and in scores of homes. This all comes to Warren which is the shopping center for a large area.

Not only during the hunting season could the county attract visitors, but hundreds, aye, thousands, could be brought here to play and frolic in the woodlands if there were places for them to stay. Private capital must furnish this facility for the visitors and money spent erecting cottages would pay big dividends. R. R. Hemingway, supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, has been preaching this to folks in this section for years and results should be obtained.

City folk yearn for the open county and mothers and children could be attracted to Warren county's play area if an organized effort were put forth to provide them with quarters.

What with all of the suggestions for the curbing of the wave of strikes about the nation it begins to look to a man up a tree that if the Unions were placed under the same jurisdictions as corporations submitting financial reports, paying taxes and made legally responsible the problem would move a long way toward solution. However the legislators seem to lack sufficient backbone to pass a law carrying out those objectives.

Stamp News

OVERSHADOWING all other philatelic developments now are the arrangements started late in November to dispose of the late President Roosevelt's personal stamp collection.

Now in the hands of H. R. Harmer, Inc., international stamp auctioneers, the more than 150 albums holding the stamps Mr. Roosevelt collected from boyhood stand for "philately" to non-collectors. Their disposal will have as much interest for such persons as to philatelists who long have speculated over the extent and value of the Roosevelt collection.

Bernard Harmer, of the auction company, has estimated the value of the collection at between $75,000 and $100,000. Bidding undoubtedly will be high when the collection is offered for sale early next year.

The 150 albums do not include, it is announced, the gifts from foreign countries which Mr. Roosevelt received while President. Those collections, which include stamps of Brazil, Turkey and other nations, will be preserved in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park.

Last of the new U. S. stamps scheduled for release this year, the Texas centennial commemorative will be placed on first-day sale at Austin, Tex., Dec. 20.

The design features an American flag with a ray shining from the 26th star to the single star of the Texas state flag. The word "Texas" appears in a vertical panel at the left and the inscription "Statehood 1845-1945" in two lines in the lower center. The color of the three-cent stamp will be announced later.

AS FOUNDER of Soviet Russia's government, Nikolai Lenin is a familiar subject of Russian stamps. Latest postal tribute to the Russian leader is a set of five stamps marking the 75th anniversary of his birth. The stamps portray Lenin in various poses. They include: 30 kopecks gray-black, Lenin at his desk reading the newspaper Pravda; 50-k gray-brown, Lenin at his desk in the Kremlin; 60-k brown-orange, Lenin making a speech; one ruble green-black, Lenin standing in front of the palace of the "American" Air Mail Catalogue. The Society, in its November issue of its official publication, The Airpost Journal, extends greetings to aerophilatelists abroad and urges mutual aid and cooperation to "weld together the aerophilatelic world by a common effort."

NEW Polish issues reported by J. and H. Stolorow of New York include a one-plus-nine zloty stamp picturing bombardment of Polish troops on Westerplatte by the Nazi heavy cruiser Schleswig-Holstein and five values commemorating the liberation of Warsaw and picturing statues and buildings in Warsaw.

ROAD SIGN REPAIR PROGRAM INTENSIFIED

Harrisburg—District Engineers and maintenance superintendents of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways were instructed to intensify their "sign maintenance program."

Secretary John U. Shroyer, who has covered the State on an inspection tour, said these directional signs, which appear at all improved highway intersections on the State Highway System, are in need of repairs such as retreating for legibility, repainting, correction of position, and in some cases an entirely new sign is needed.

Work on the sign maintenance will be done without interfering with other important seasonal work.

Congested Cities Wrestling With Stop-Gap Solution As Building Boom Is Awaited

BY BILL GLOVER
AP News Feature Writer
New York, Dec. 5.—(P)—Many of America's crowded towns and cities are hunting hard for temporary cures to housing congestion, others are simply waiting—and all are hoping for the day when an incipient multi-billion dollar building boom starts supplying the long-term solution.

An Associated Press survey shows that, although housing conditions should be pretty rosy after 1947, returning servicemen and war-shifted workers, in the meantime, probably will have to keep on living the way they are now, by doubling up with the old folks or occupying makeshift quarters.

Planners are having a frenetic field day as they strive for stop-gap sedatives or work out long-range schemes for controlling properly everything from the cost of individual homes to the direction of municipal development. No one has found the complete answer.

Many communities have been crossed up on their expectancy that the situation would adjust itself as migrant war workers returned whence they came.

A lot of war workers seem quite satisfied to stay put in their new surroundings.

Most public officials and real estate men believe it will take two years to work out the following factors in the housing picture:

1. Labor shortage.
2. Lack of building materials.
3. Uncertainty concerning future government housing provisions and regulations for the building industry.

The three factors are interwoven and none can be solved independently. First, reconverting from war work have been delayed in obtaining supplies and getting production moving, and one big plumbing concern, for example, is able to turn out only about 10 per cent of normal bathtub production thus far. Philadelphia pipe firms are taking orders now for delivery next September. Nails are almost unobtainable in quantity.

Labor shortages have resulted from lags in the return to manufacturing and building trades of servicemen and war-shifted workers, and from extended wage discussions locally and regionally. Chicago builders, for example, charge piling of workmen block in Florida in shut down, claiming wage increases made it impossible to sell products at a profit within ceiling limitations. Seattle had a shortage of building inspectors because the pay is better in architects' offices.

Some large-scale real estate operators and builders have retrained from building apartments or home developments because rent ceilings, they say, make no allowance for war-inflated building and maintenance costs. Builders and real estate men in many sections frankly say they won't get going until government restrictions are lifted, or until they know regulations won't hamper construction for reasonable profit.

There is no doubt, despite these

The Battle For Markets Is Already Started In England

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
P World Traveler

London—The war is over (or is it?) but the people of England are finding fresh reason to recall the historic warnings by Winston Churchill early in the conflict that he had nothing but blood, sweat and tears to offer them as they went out to meet the German hosts.

That was in the dark days when Hitler's troops had much of Europe beneath their hob-nailed boots and the fates of Britain and many other countries were in the balance. Churchill spoke with the tongue of a prophet. England gave her blood. She gave her tears until they ran dry. But though that phase of the war is in the background, there still remains the sweat.

England is facing a long period of sweat and privation which may be even harder to bear than the thrills of war, because the stimulus of the battlefield and the urge for self-defense are lacking.

Yesterday Mrs. Mac and I told you that the people of England are mighty tired and more than a bit discouraged because there is no sign of any relief in the way of better food or other necessities. They had thought that once the war was over these things would improve—but that is not so. The reason for this is one of the unusual developments of the war. England's foreign trade is her lifeblood. Naturally she lost most of it during the conflict because her resources were wholly directed to war purposes. Now she is faced with the problem (1) of restoring that all-important for-ign trade, and (2) giving the home population the thousand-and-one things they need after more than four years of war—and she can't do both at the same time. The upshot of this is that the government has decided to devote most of its manufactures to foreign markets. In short, it is calling on a very weary population for a lot more sacrifice and sweat. There is to be a battle royal for world markets.

Committees have been appointed. Sir Stauffer (austerity) Cripps says the purpose of these committees is to "get industry in the position to meet the very hard competition they are going to meet in about two years' time." He states that all major industries of the country are going to be lined up. These include cotton, pottery, furniture, hosiery, boots and shoes.

It takes a fair amount to make John Bull laugh these days. But he developed a broad grin over an incident that befell Sir Stafford while addressing leaders of the automobile industry. Sir Stafford declared that the people of England should go without cars so that exports can be built up. This brought cries of "no!" and "Tripe!" from some of his hearers. It developed they were dealers for the home trade. Sir Stafford apparently hadn't been advised they were present.

Well, now, what does all this mean to the man-in-the-street and his missus?

The distasteful side of this column England well through long resistance here, has been investigating this point.

One thing that has impressed her especially is the large number of pinched faces one sees, and I had noted that too. There are two reasons for that—one being the strain of the war and the terrific bombing which England endured, and the other, the thin and monotonous diet.

Labor Units Support Sale Of 1945 Seals

Many labor groups are cooperating with tuberculosis societies in promoting the 1945 Christmas Seal sale, according to H. M. Mohr, local sale chairman. Support of the tuberculosis control work of the National Tuberculosis Association and its 2,500 affiliated associations has been urged by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, in statements endorsing the 39th annual Christmas Seal sale.

"The people of America enlisted as a unit to fight for the preservation of American ideals of life and liberty," said Mr. Green. "Let us remain as a unit and battle against tuberculosis by purchasing and using the official National Tuberculosis Association Christmas Seals."

Mr. Murray praised the work of the associations in conducting industrial x-ray surveys and in rehabilitation, which, he said, "should prove of great value to America's working men and women."

"The voluntary or citizen fight against tuberculosis, designed for the protection of all residents of the community, is supported," explained Mr. Mohr, secretary of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society, "by proceeds from the annual Christmas Seal sale. Of the money raised, 95 per cent is expended within the state for the benefit of people in the local communities."

"The function of the National Association is similar in many respects to that of the international office of a union. Local tuberculosis associations are autonomous bodies but receive help and counsel from the national and state tuberculosis organizations in working out local problems. The National Association also finances medical research, a service which benefits the whole tuberculosis movement, but which could not well be performed by small groups."

PLAYING SAFE WINS IF HAND'S IN DOUBT

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

There are several ways to play today's hand, but I am giving it to you because of the interesting play that came up when declarer decided to pull two rounds of trumps. It looks as if the contract of four spades would be easy. Nevertheless, West found himself in a predicament, after winning the opening lead with the ace of hearts and taking two rounds of trumps and the club finesse.

If he led the ace of clubs, South would trump it, cash a diamond and a heart, and declarer would be unable to establish the club suit fast enough to use it.

West, however, made a beautiful safety play. After winning the queen of clubs, he cashed a small club and led, and now South was helpless. He trumped with the ten of spades, cashed the king of diamonds and king of hearts. But regardless of what he did then, declarer still had two entries into dummy, one in which to establish the club suit and the other to get in to dummy to cash the suit.

If West had not pulled any trumps, but led diamonds immediately, five-odd might have been made.

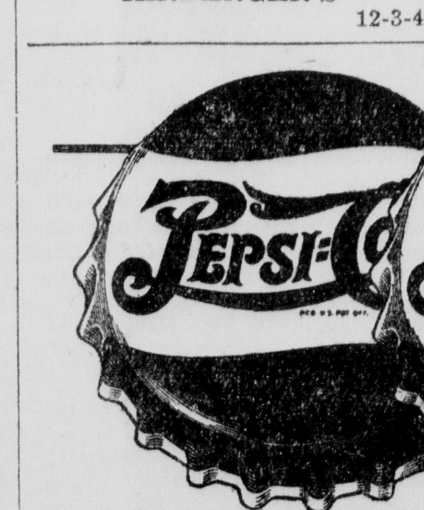

age, and fifty dollars to the church treasury.

Miss Eva Brown, chairman of the entertainment. The class Christmas party will be held at the church, December 14.

Endocrine has helped thousands to recapture youthful look of face and throat

Eight years ago, eminent scientists gave the world ENDOCREME, a sensational contribution to the beauty of the feminine face and throat. Today, ENDOCREME is aiding thousands to regain the charm of a youthful skin to a degree hitherto thought impossible. This it does by helping to improve the skin itself, not merely its superficial appearance. ENDOCREME, you know, is the only face cream that contains ACTIVOL. This precious ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance. When you apply ENDOCREME, it is absorbed by the skin and helps to restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. It thus aids the skin to recapture its youthful freshness, firmness, smoothness and allure. What bigger value can one get for her cosmetic dollars than this? You, too, should try ENDOCREME. Many report truly astonishing results in only 30 days.

Mission Group To Play Is Ready Begin 23rd Season For Production

Beginning its 23rd season, the Interdenominational Mission Study Group will hold its initial meeting at 2:30 p. m. Friday in First Lutheran church, with Epworth Methodist and Salem Evangelical parishes cooperating.

Guest speaker, provided by the hostess unit, will be Mrs. M. J. Harder, wife of the Lutheran pastor at Johnsonburg and president of the North East Conference Missionary Society. The Harders are fairly new to this section, having come here from the Midwest several years ago, but many in Warren have met Mrs. Harder and were impressed with her manner of speaking.

Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. Carl Jones, of Salem church, with music by an Epworth member, Mrs. Nick Merenick.

Officers of the group are Mrs. C. W. Edgett, chairman; Mrs. Ernest Kaebnick, vice chairman; Mrs. L. E. Nason, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. R. Schueltz, Mrs. L. W. Garber, Mrs. F. H. Hetrick, Mrs. H. C. Warren and Mrs. J. W. Rohrer, program committee.

At an early fall meeting of the executive committee, it was voted to extend an invitation to this season's meetings to members of all nearby rural community churches, and it is hoped that many of these will respond and be present for this first gathering of the new season.

The management and cast of "Nine Girls", the Warren Players' second major production of the season, have completed the final details of preparation for the public opening of the play on Thursday.

With tonight's traditional line rehearsal the many weeks of planning and hard work are brought to a polished finish. News of the drama's story has been closely guarded because of the mystery element involved, but the Players guarantee that no member of the audience need fear that his or her interest will have a chance to waver during the entire evening.

Box office will be open tonight from 7 to 9 and from 7:30 to 8:30 on the nights of the play to provide tickets for those who have not already secured seat reservations. The opening curtain on both nights of the play will be promptly at 8:30 p. m.

"Past Matrons' Night" Observed By Eastern Star

Eastern Star members observed "Past Matrons' Night" for their monthly gathering on Tuesday evening, with Worth Matron Grace Schuler welcoming the 18 persons so honored.

The room was decorated in the Christmas style, with greens, Yule logs and candles for the attractively arranged tables.

Dorothy Schultze supervised the presentation of a pantomime, "The Most Precious Thing," written by Mary Eddy, dramatics instructor of Bradford High School. Those taking part were Anne Lewson, Gertrude Babcock, Martha Swick, Harriet Gough, Lavinia Warner, Alice Redding, Alice McDonald, Fanny Cogswell, Virginia Hedges and Violette Hutchens.

For the social hour which followed, past matrons were seated at one long table and Eva Reardon and Ethel Smedley presided at a second. The refreshments committee was headed by Gertrude Leuthold and Sylvia Walters and Alice McDonald handled the decorations.

Piano Students In Recital and Party

Mrs. E. W. Miller and her class of piano students were entertained Monday evening for a recital and Christmas party at the home of Ronald McCain at Starbrick.

With a fine attendance of parents to enjoy the program and the Christmas tree and refreshments. Participating in the evening's program were Joanne, Romaine and Albert Kondak, Gerry Huckabone, Doris Mason, Alice Smithers, Anita Miller, Larry and Vivian Slagle, Betty Garvin, Danny and Eleanor Jackson, Donna Winchester and Marjorie Kittlinger.

Lois Egger and Clark Groch. The young people showed an accuracy and precision in their playing that denoted fine training and careful preparation in all numbers, a performance that reflects credit upon both instructor and students.

Shed a Tear For Suzy

Oh, Pity Suzy the Shop Girl is the theme song of many writers as the busy Christmas shopping season arrives, but it remains for Arlene Wolf, P. feature writer for the Times-Mirror, to suggest a new idea, a DSM—Distinguished Selling Medal—for the deserving Suzy and her sisters behind the counter. Despite what you've experienced with snappy sales clerks during the wartime years, Suzy's been told to be courteous. The trouble is, no one has told the customers that half of the courtesy should be on their own side of the counter. The shop girl is daily surrounded by customers who haven't had the good sense to find out in advance what size glove or slip they want. Unless Suzy is one of the store's old selling standbys, she's not a specialist. She may work at the cosmetic counter one day and in the toy department the next. In the week before Christmas, she may be called upon to sell neckties, refrigerators or tablecloths. By the week's end, she wishes she had taken up scrubbing floors, instead. Comes Christmas, and her troubles have just begun. On December 26th she's again behind the counter, bracing herself for the post-Christmas exchange orgy. Suzy and her sisters exchange at least 15 per cent of the little parcels of Yuletide cheer, and nine-tenths of the exchangers are irate women who didn't want silver bangles with gold trimmings. They wanted gold bangles with silver trimmings. Three times as many women's articles come back to roost as men's. And the more expensive and impractical the gift, the better chance it has of being returned, store executives say. While this ten-day derby is on, Suzy suffers. Nevertheless, she has to be alert, sympathetic, and very interested in the swapping of a pink lace nightgown, size 16, for a size 40, seersucker. How would you like to be Suzy?

DRAGONS WALLOP DUTCHMEN, 58-28 FOR SECOND WIN

Babcock Paces Locals With 25 Points; Massamen Start Preparing For Jamestowners

Warren High's "Big Five" got to a slow start last night on the Beatty hardwood but they came through in the final two quarters to whitewash the St. Mary's Dutchmen, 58-28, for their second win before a packed house. Six foot two inch forward Al Babcock gunned mentor Joseph Massam's quintet to the second shellacking of the season in as many starts by dropping 11 field goals and 3 fouls through the hoop for a grand total of 25 points. Township center Jack Eaton followed with 10.

The Dragonmen appeared slightly improved in their exhibition last night, but ball handling and teamwork still remain definite factors which will have to be ironed out. Massam sends his proteges against strong, tall Jamestown five Friday night on the Jamestown High school court.

Last night's contest was slow starting, and at the end of the first quarter the locals held but the Dragons off-guard by bringing a pressing, man-for-man defense, and the local aspirants were unable to cock their sights until the second and third stand-

As at halftime, after a thrilling second quarter, Mentor Massam's outfit had increased its margin to 17-7. It was not until the third quarter that the "Big Five" finally found the hoop, and they made a bang-up battle out of the game from there on in.

Last night's 58 points collected by the locals was one of the highest scores to be rolled up by the High School quint since 1941, when Conroy, Tucker, and Company rolled up some 70 points over Youngsville. All told, the locals now have 112 points recorded to their opponents' 42.

The Dragons literally rocked the St. Mary's boat in the third stanza as they chalked up 23 points. Local foot shooting appeared on the upgrade in the Tuesday fray with a percentage of 10 out of 19 successes. At the end of the third, Warren had a 42-17 lead, and then the second five entered

BEHIND THE LINES

Army vs. Pros

By now, most every person in the nation has heard some inkling emanating from the National Professional Football League that the No. 1 team of the country's college gridiron elevens, Army, should meet one of the pro teams in an exhibition game.

Proponents of the suggestion, who come mostly from within the professional ranks, believe that such a meeting would be a great morale builder for hundreds of thousands of wounded veterans as well as contributing monetarily to some sort of war relief. Various uses have been designated for which money could be profitably spent. Among them are: (1) to be used to decrease the national debt; (2) to be used for United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association; to aid in establishing modern, well-equipped veterans' hospitals in the nation; and (4) to aid in the development of all types of athletics in the nation.

Should the invincible Cadets agree to meet one of the pro teams, probably Philadelphia, Washington, New York, or Cleveland, it would be putting Army's brilliant two-year record on the block with a possibility of it being snapped. War Department and West Point officials have said "no" time and time again, but still the pro moguls continue to criticize these departments for their failure to foresee the great use such a game would have.

Warrior Check, whose name will echo in this city for years to come because of his famous passing feats with the Warren Dragons and the Red Jackets, is expected

Bowlers Vie For Match-Game Toga

Chicago, Dec. 5—(A)—Forty-three of the nation's front-ranking bowlers, survivors in a field of 139 in four days of competition, will roll 12 games each today to determine the finalists in the fifth annual All-Star Bowling Tournament for the match-game championship of 1945.

Walter Ward, the Cleveland sharpshooting veteran, leads the 43 qualifiers for today's semifinals with 4,975 in 24 games. The 207-average of the 48-year-old kegling star, put him 45 pins ahead of his nearest rival, Chet Bukowski of Detroit, who had a 4,930-pin total.

SPORTS ACROSS PENNSYLVANIA

By Tom Shriver

Harrisburg, Dec. 5—(A)—The switch from football to basketball was made so suddenly this year that many scholastic fans in Pennsylvania are wondering what it is all about. While the eastern gridders were rolling down the curtain on a successful season the western boys were already aiming for the elusive baskets. The 1945-46 edition of the Warren High Dragons is really something to cause worry for title contenders. Every man on Coach Massa's squad is six foot, or better. The center, Jack Eaton, goes six foot, five. In the season's opener he dropped in 14 points, and only played in part of the game. The score was Warren, 54, Youngsville, 14.

Plenty of Brothers

Out at St. Joseph High School, in the Mt. Oliver sector, they have three sets of brothers on the basketball team. In action when the season opened were Tom and Kenneth Lewis, Bob and Don Lauterbach, and Bob and Ray Borowitz. The boys won the Catholic school crown in Pittsburgh in 1943, and repeated in 1944. They hope to regain the crown this year.

Football Pays

Some of the schools are disclosing their grid receipts for season just closed. Most of them finished in the black, with plenty to spare. Dunmore is a good example of the added interest in sport since V-J Day. With a team that almost won a title the turnstiles clicked to the tune of 14,108 admissions for six home games. Last year at five home contests, the admissions were 7,255. Just a fifty per cent increase, which is not bad.

They Saw Red

Now it can be told. A lot of folks up in the northwest were wondering how Erie Academy could come back from a 30-0 lacing at the hands of Erie East, and win the second game 6-2. The victory incidentally giving the Lions the city title.

Here's the explanation by Ray Peebles, sports editor of the Erie Dispatch-Herald. After the first game the Lions Scouts watched East very closely. They noted among other things that 10 of the East players wore white helmets. The eleventh man wore a red headgear.

Then they checked and found that Leo Beil, the boy with the red headpiece, led the interference on most of East's plays. So when the teams met the second time the Lions spilled every play by watching the guy with the red helmet.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Dec. 4—The Sugar Grove P.T.A. met in the school auditorium, Monday evening with Mrs. Travers Stohberg, presiding.

She also announced the collection of white cloths to be used in the cancer hospitals. Any white clean cloths and free from dye is needed for bandages. Everyone having such material is asked to leave it at the home of Mrs. Oliver Swanson in Chanders Valley and at Schoonover's store in Sugar Grove before December 20th.

A meeting was announced at the home economics house for December 13th when the county intercepted such a message. Word has not yet been received from the British and Dutch in response to a request for similar information, he added.

Mitchell told the committee he was explaining what committee counsel had found out, because he knew that Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, former head of the army plans division, and Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, would be questioned about it.

Gerow took the stand today and Marshall will testify tomorrow.

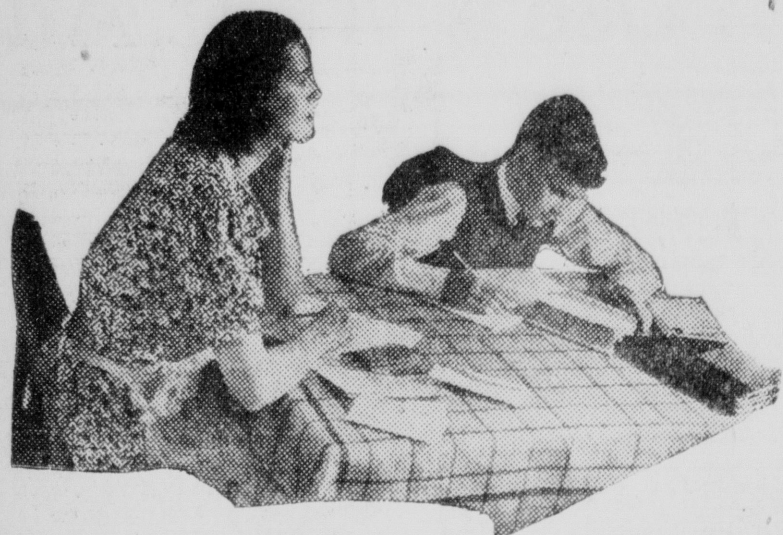

The committee wanted to question Gen. Gerow about a Nov. 27, 1941, memorandum he gave to Gen. Marshall. This reported that Henry L. Stimson opposed any army-navy recommendation for continuance of diplomatic negotiations with the Japanese at that time.

Gerow said in his notation that Stimson, then secretary of war, wanted to be sure that a memorandum Marshall and Adm. Harold R. Stark were having drafted "would not be construed as a recommendation to the president that he request Japan to reopen the conversations."

The Gerow memorandum went on to say that Stimson was "re-assured on that point" by the war plans chief.

When the Marshall-Stark memorandum went to the president, it made no mention of the diplomatic negotiations with Japan and did not repeat a

Prospective Builders Facing Control By Rent Board Rules

Prospective builders of rental homes and apartments in the Erie County and Warren County Rental Areas may ascertain the ceiling rents on the proposed new units before starting construction by submitting their building plans and specifications to the Area Rent Office, Frank S. Anderson, Area Rent Director, said today.

The Office of Price Administration's plan to help speed revival of rental construction and maintain rent stabilization provides that rents on new units will be based on rents for comparable living quarters in the areas, plus a due allowance for increases in building costs since 1939.

"The program should stimulate new construction, which is acutely needed in these areas," Anderson said. "Our housing shortage can be relieved only through a record volume of construction. In addition, construction is needed to provide jobs and help maintain a high level of employment.

"Builders requests for advance rental ceilings that are accompanied by reasonably detailed plans will be processed at our office as rapidly as possible. We will do everything we can to clear the way so builders of rental housing can get construction under way without delay.

"At the same time it is vital that prospective tenants of these new units, many of whom will be veterans, are protected from the inflationary rents that would result if rents were uncontrolled. Wild bidding by home-seekers would send rents soaring during this acute housing shortage. OPA's program will prevent this by al-

MacKenzie Points Way To Avoid a Further Conflict

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London, Nov. 30.—This column ventured the prediction weeks ago that the coming year would largely determine whether we are to have real peace or whether mankind is to commit atomic harakiri.

The signs have seemed to me to indicate that in this general period (for I'm not trying to pin the thing down to an exact length of time) we shall encounter the paramount international problem upon which peace hinges. Among these, of course, are the sharp and dangerous differences which have arisen among the Big Three, whose solidarity is synonymous with peace and security.

Now the corollary to this is that the quicker the new United Nations peace organization gets into action to help settle the difficulties, the better will be our chances of avoiding further conflict.

It is good to be able to report that there is a sense of urgency to get the organization going. Present plans anticipate the meeting of the general assembly the first week in January, and with this an objective the preparatory commission has set out to finish its work by Christmas.

This means that our whole new peace organization will be functioning in a little more than a month if things move as well as expected. Then the world's major problems, both political and economic, can come before the United Nations. Indeed, I heard it suggested yesterday that there might be an international trade conference by June.

There is a wide range of problems which can come before the assembly, for any issue which threatens international tranquility is grist for the peace mill.

If this idea is pursued to its logical conclusion we may see the United Nations organization dealing with some issues which heretofore would have been regarded as not international in character but as purely the business of the nation immediately concerned. Thus a civil war such as now exists in China might become the concern of the world at large since it certainly threatens the peace of more than China.

Luftwaffe "Blinded" By Tinsel Strips Used to Jam Axis Radar

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

Cambridge, Mass.—For want of some glittering tinsel strips like those we hang on Christmas trees, the Luftwaffe lost the Battle of Britain—and possibly as a result, Germany lost the war.

The Nazis knew all about the tinsel and what it would do to British radar. They had a supply probably ample to jam all the radar without which the tiny British fighter force could not have beaten the Luftwaffe blitz. But they didn't use the strips and the outnumbered RAF emerged by November, 1944, the winner of the Battle of Britain.

The Germans didn't use the radar-jamming weapon because they thought we didn't know about it and feared to tip us off. We, on our part, thought the Nazis didn't know about it and failed to employ it until mid-1943.

This latest story of a Nazi error that saved democracy was told here by scientists attached to the Radio Research Laboratory at Harvard University, in connection with the first public description of the continuous and effective Allied war against Axis radar.

Reflects Waves

The bits of tinsel that the Germans refrained from using are what the British call by the code name "window" and we call "chaff." A secret memorandum dated in early 1944 gives to our use this "chaff" much credit for the effectiveness of Allied bombing against German cities.

"Chaff" consists of slim strips of aluminum just under a foot long, wrapped in bundles of about 5000. An alternative, used against the Japs, is a 400-foot roll of thin aluminum tape about half an inch wide.

Each Allied bomber going against Germany carried 700 bundles of "chaff." As the bombers got into an area of danger from ack ack or fighter patrols, its crew would begin dropping the packages at predetermined intervals. Each bundle would spread its strips in the sky, where they would reflect Axis radar waves exactly as though they were planes.

Down below, German radar had been following the unseen bombers, showing locations and distances, guiding fighter control and aiming anti-aircraft guns. (See Fig. I) The clouds of "window" would fill the radar scope with so many echoes that the Nazis would be driven to guess what was happening in the sky. (See Fig. II).

Jammed Radar

Military aviation experts say that if Goering had used "chaff" to jam British radar in the blitz period, right after the fall of France, Hitler would have won the war then and there.

We used "spot jamming" microwave electronic devices so effectively in the invasion of southern France that we knocked out German radar completely. We used "chaff" in the invasion of Normandy so cleverly that we kept the German fighter reserve flying blindly, far from the invasion point, until they ran out of gas.

The use of "chaff" or of microwave electronic jamming devices makes radar gun-pointers virtually worthless. Newsmen stood beside a modern gun-pointing radar here and watched the antenna swing helplessly back and forth while planes dropped "chaff"—but came to a firm point as soon as the jamming stopped.

Against Nazi night fighters, the Allies often sent decoy formations of "windows" dropping fighters, who simulated the presence of large bomber groups here and there, so that the Luftwaffe's had to split up its defending planes instead of being able to concentrate them all against the bombers.

Neither type of jamming makes the best radar scopes completely unreadable, for the skilled operator. But both, used in combination, caused what on German scientist described as the "catalowing builders rent increases that reflect only actual construction cost increases during the emergency."

Anderson explained that during the war years on new construction were fixed by the national Housing Administration at the same time that priorities were issued under War Production Order L-41. These NHA rents became the maximum under OPA Regulations. Abandonment of L-41 on October 15 made it necessary for OPA to fix minimum rents for new construction directly, and resulted in adoption of the present formula for figuring cost increases, which became effective November 23.

Fire Wardens' Certificates For Services

District Forester John W. Wilson announces that the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters has issued Service Certificates this fall to the following Warren County Forest Fire Wardens: U. G. York, Andrew Marfink, and H. A. Morine. Warden York received a 25-year Certificate, Warden Marfink a 20-year Certificate, and Warden Morine a 10-year Certificate. The latter served as Forest Dispatcher for six years, previous to his appointment as a Fire Warden.

A. D. Wood of Cooperstown, Venango County, and J. A. Underwood of Erie County received 15 and 10-year certificates. Game Protector Carl Benson of Tionesta, Forest County, was given a 25-year Certificate. Not all of Warden Benson's service as a Forest Fire Warden has been in the Complanter District.

These certificates, according to District Forester Wilson, are issued to wardens who have served the Department faithfully over a period of years and have helped to prevent and extinguish forest fires.

U.S. Military Commission Ponders Fate of Yamashita

PROSECUTION ASKS DEATH BY HANGING

Chief Prosecutor Declares Every Reasonable Doubt About Accused Jap Shattered

VERDICT ON FRIDAY

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Manila, Dec. 5.—(P)—A five-member U. S. military commission recessed to ponder the fate of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita today after hearing final summations in which the prosecution demanded the death penalty and the defense pleaded for "American justice—acquittal."

It promised a verdict Friday. Maj. Robert M. Kerr, Portland, Ore., chief prosecutor, declared that "in view of the aggravated nature of the crimes and in view of the measures of the crimes, we recommended that the sentence, if death, be carried out by hanging."

Kerr charged that "every reasonable doubt has been shattered by devastating witnesses" against the Japanese army commander, who is accused of condoning innumerable atrocities by his troops in the Philippines.

"There is no doubt of his responsibility and negligence, Kerr said in asking a verdict of guilty and the death sentence."

Col. Harry Clarke, concluding Yamashita's defense arguments, asked the commission to "exemplify the concepts and standards of American justice, the keystone of American democracy, by returning a finding of not guilty."

Defense attorneys closely followed this argument:

1. Yamashita did not permit atrocities.
2. He did not condone, nor did he know of, their commission.
Capt. Milton Sandberg, New York, argued that civilians in Manila—where many atrocities occurred—were many atrocities occurred.

Senate Votes For UNO Participation

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—The senate turned today to further relief for victims of war after voting, 65 to 7, for active participation in the peace-seeking United Nations Organization.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), planned to step down from the presiding officer's rostrum to try for speedy approval of a $500,000 UNRRA Appropriation. It is the final installment of this country's active pledge to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

The house weeks ago approved the last installment and today opened debate on a second $1,350,000 pledge.

McKellar well past the dinner hour last night banged his gavel on senate passage of the UNO bill setting up machinery for this country's active role in the infant organization. The measure now goes to the house where Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the foreign affairs committee told reporters he hoped for final passage before the December 20 holiday recess.

A UNO organization meeting is scheduled in London next month.

SERIES OF ROBBERIES IN ERIE CLEARED UP

Erie, Dec. 5.—(P)—Detective Capt. Roy B. Mong reported today that two Erie men, arrested in connection with a series of burglaries in Erie and vicinity during the past 15 months, have admitted nine thefts involving loot of $6,050.

Mong said the pair, apprehended Sunday in Westfield, N. Y., told of the burglaries under questioning here by State Policemen C. M. Mathias and John Mehalick.

A third Erie man is also detained, pending investigation, and a fourth is being sought, police said. Another man was released yesterday after questioning.

First Tires To Be Released To Civilians Within a Month

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—Tire prospects are looking up.

The first new castings to be released to civilians by the army and navy—about 400,000 of them—will reach the market in about a month.

And these, which bolster hopes for an end to rationing around New Year's, will be followed by surplus offerings of auto, truck and tractor tires at a "sizeable rate" for some time.

This disclosure by a spokesman for the consumer goods division of the War Assets Corporation followed announcement that the government is stepping out of the rubber-from-alcohol business because lower-cost petroleum plants can meet the national demand for synthetic rubber.

The three big plants erected at a cost of $117,000,000 to use grain alcohol for synthetic rubber mak-

Murray Breaks Sharply With Truman Over Labor Policies

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5.—(P)—Philip Murray, one of the strongest backers of Harry S. Truman in the political campaign of 1944, has broken sharply with him over legislation the president proposes to end labor strife in the United States.

In a softly spoken, but bitterly phrased, radio address, CIO President Murray last night accused the administration of "arbitrary and capricious" laws proposed by Truman "to weaken and ultimately destroy labor union organizations."

Answering President Truman's pleas that workers end strikes and refrain from calling further strikes, Murray declared:

"Our objective is to restore the huge out in the national pay envelope. Unless we do, clearly America faces bad times. If the working men do not have the purchasing power to buy the goods, the wheels of industry cannot keep turning."

Murray asserted large companies—citing the U. S. Steel Corp. and General Motors Corp.—had flatly refused pay increases and had refused government requests to resume negotiations with the unions.

"Confronted with this situation, American labor, in self-protection and in the interest of the entire nation, have turned to their right to strike," said Murray, and continued:

"This is what the workers of General Motors were compelled to do."

"This is why over half a million steelworkers have voted five to one to authorize a steel strike."

"This is why electrical manufacturers are voting overwhelmingly in favor of strikes."

Soviet Union Denounced By A.F.L. Leader

Harrisburg, Dec. 5.—(P)—The Soviet Union exercises "the prerogatives of a dictator" in its relations with conquered European nations, says George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor.

Meany was the guest of Pennsylvania Council of Public Employees last night which gave him its annual award for "making the most outstanding contribution to the welfare of the workers."

Devoting most of his speech to Russia, Meany said that in addition to acting as a dictator in Poland, eastern Germany, Czechoslovakia, and the Balkan nations the Soviet Union was "assuming a dominant antidemocratic position in eastern Asia."

"While screaming loudly against the price of having commissars giving orders at the White House," Meany said, "this same nation has set up a chain of dominated states from the North Sea to the Pacific Ocean."

He declared that "we want peace, but we don't want peace at the price of having commissars giving orders at the White House."

Turning to conditions on the home front Meany said "the forces of reaction are on the march again" and declared that "there are definite signs that labor will have to fight for its existence."

Scarcity of Holly Berries is Reported

Late spring freezes hit the east's holly berry crop, but there will be plenty of leaves and stems which can be ornamented with artificial berries, he said.

EVIDENCE OF PLANNED NAZI AGGRESSION

Goering Accused of Shattering Czechoslovakia's Last Will to Resist Hitler

THREATS OF BOMBING

Nuernberg, Dec. 5.—(P)—German air force records placed before the international military tribunal today disclosed that Hitler had made definite plans by 1938 to conquer at least seven neighboring countries including Poland and Czechoslovakia.

British prosecutors at the trial of 20 top Nazi leaders accused of war crimes introduced a German air force document on plans for establishment of air bases in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia and Austria. The document was dated May 2, 1938—more than a year before World War II actually began.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Dec. 5.—(P)—Hermann Goering shattered Czechoslovakia's last will to resist Hitler's war machine with the ultimatum that "half of Prague" would lie in ruins from aerial bombardment within two hours.

The international military tribunal was told today.

American prosecutors at the trial of Goering and 19 other Nazi leaders accused of war crimes laid before the court official German records and French and British diplomatic reports disclosing the Hitler pattern of treachery and broken promises.

That crushed the Czechs only five months after the Munich pact led British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to proclaim "peace in our time."

In cold detail, the prosecution disclosed the ordeal of Czechoslovakia President Emil Hacha when he was imperiously summoned to Berlin the day before German troops marched across the border on March 14, 1939, and was told that Prague would be bombed if the Czechs fired on the Nazi invaders.

Goering bullied Hacha with the bombing threat if he did not immediately "invite" German troops into his country, according to the report of French Ambassador Robert Coulondre read into the evidence.

Hungary's part in the partition of the little country was shown by a letter to Hitler from Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, in which he told of plans to manufacture a "frontier incident" on March 16, 1939, as a pretext for the invasion of Ruthenia, one of the Czechoslovak provinces.

The day before the German troops poured across the Czech border, Hacha was called to Berlin to receive the ultimatum. Hitler told Hacha, German records introduced as evidence disclosed, that the army would move at six o'clock the next morning prepared to use "physical force."

Hitler added:

"London and Paris were not in a position to really stand up for Czechoslovakia."

China's Yuan Will Meet at Nanking

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Dec. 5.—(P)—A cabinet spokesman said today that China's executive Yuan would meet in Nanking after Dec. 15th and that under present plans Premier T. V. Soong also would move to the former capital.

The spokesman, P. H. Chang, announced that personnel from various ministries would be established at Nanking within 10 days although the government would remain at Chungking, possibly until next March.

Fifteen hundred government workers will be flown to Nanking before Dec. 15, he said.

Meanwhile, vice-minister for Foreign Affairs Liu Chieh announced that Russian-Chinese negotiations for the airborne movement of Nationalist troops into Mukden and Changchun, Manchuria would be concluded within a few days.

Liu said the troops would take over provisional and municipal administrations in the rich northern province.

VITAL ISSUES MAY RESHAPE FUTURE JAPAN

Question of Whether Emperor Helped Push Nation Into War Is Out In the Open

ABDICATION IS ARGUED

By MURLIN SPENCER

Tokyo, Dec. 5.—(P)—Two undercurrent questions whose answers may reshape the future of Japan—did Emperor Hirohito help push Japan into the war and should he abdicate—were out in the open today.

Kyoto quoted Matsumoto as replying that "even to express in public such a thing as abdication is too awesome." The minister added that those who contemplate such a "mistaken" idea were the exception.

Discussion of whether Hirohito helped push Japan into the war caused an equal stir.

The unprecedented question was asked late yesterday at a plenary session of the house of representatives budget committee. In reply, Premier Kijuro Shidehara told the house he personally believed Hirohito had no war responsibility and added that the occupation authorities have not raised the question with the government.

Today a retired Japanese general, Toshio Nishio, told the Associated Press that Hirohito attended a highly secretive conference held at the imperial palace in late November or early December, 1941, just prior to the war's outbreak.

Nishio said the Mikasa, the supreme war council "Japan might have to fight if things didn't improve."

Nishio added, however, that other Japanese have said—the emperor wasn't told a sneak attack on Pearl Harbor would open the conflict.

Institute Furuno, who as president of the recently dissolved Domei agency, has been added by General MacArthur to the list of war criminal suspects, said in an interview the press could not prevent war because militarists controlled the sources of news.

He said the field dispatches of Domei correspondents were censored at the source during the war and "even when they returned to give the true situation we had no way of getting it into print."

Furuno, who plans to surrender shortly before the Dec. 12 deadline set by MacArthur, said Japan's navy department delayed announcement of the Pearl Harbor attack and he first heard about it "through monitoring an Associated Press broadcast" from the United States.

Senate Committee May Call Dr. Betty

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—"Dr. Betty" soon may tell a United States senate committee her much publicized story of living conditions in several Pennsylvania company-owned mine towns.

Dr. Betty, as her patients call her, is Dr. Elizabeth Hayes, the Force physician whose health hazards in the mine towns started a strike and led to removal by a federal judge in Pittsburgh of two receivers for the Pittsburgh, Shawmut and Northern Railroad Company.

Senator Reed (R-Kans.) of the senate interstate commerce committee told a reporter that when and if the committee begins investigating "extended" railroad receiverships, he would like to call Dr. Hayes as a witness.

Aid Given To Chinese Reds Hurley Says

Washington, Dec. 5.—(P)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley charged today that a career diplomat he left in charge of the embassy at Chungking sought to "destroy" the Chinese Nationalist government by getting lend-lease arms for the Chinese Communists.

He said the official was George Acheson, Jr., counselor at the Chungking embassy. Hurley added that the arms were not given the Communists, and that Acheson later was called from China.

Hurley testified that Acheson's incident occurred after he had left China on a trip to Washington. He said Acheson wrote a letter to the secretary of state advocating furnishing lend-lease arms and equipment to the Communist forces, and claiming that he had the support of every official member of the American embassy in that recommendation.

Acheson is currently on duty for the state department in Tokyo as a political adviser to General of the Army Douglas A. MacArthur.

Poland Facing A Bitter And Cold Winter

By LARRY ALLEN

Warsaw, Dec. 5.—(P)—Poland, the greatest coal producing country in Europe, is facing a cold, bitter winter because of the lack of sufficient transportation facilities to haul heating fuel from the mines to urban centers.

Shipping from Baltic ports also has been hard hit, since Poland is unable to fulfill her commitments for the exchange of coal with Sweden, Norway, Denmark and other countries for machinery and foodstuffs.

What coal does leave the Silesian mines via railways seldom reaches its destination intact. Government officials estimate conservatively that 15 per cent of all coal shipments is stolen enroute.

Inadequate coal supplies finally delivered to big cities bring fantastic prices. In Krakow and Katowice near the Silesian mines, coal sells for 400 zlotys (about $20) a ton. In Warsaw the price ranges from 6,000 to 14,000 ($300 to $700), beyond the reach of the poor Polish worker who earns on the average eight zlotys (40 cents) an hour.

Cities like Warsaw, Lodz, Gdynia, Gdansk and Bydgoszcz are facing not only a cold winter but also a dark one, for the acute lack of fuel is seriously affecting operations of electric power plants.

In Warsaw it is no uncommon occurrence for all lights to go off early in the evening. Thousands have to work by candle light after nightfall, which begins about 4 p. m.

Silesian coal production in October averaged 108,000 tons daily, which would total 32,000,000 tons (Turn to Page Nine)

Judge Hears Testimony In Girl's Murder

Uniontown, Dec. 5.—(P)—Presiding Judge W. Russell Carr heard witnesses today to determine the degree of guilt of 19-year-old Frederick E. "Red" Hauser, ex-sailor, in the death of Fayette city's "Sunshine Girl," pretty 17-year-old Anna Elizabeth Dreyer.

Hauser suddenly changed his plea from innocent to guilty yesterday while the court still attempting to select a jury to try the case.

The defendant entered a general plea of guilty of murder. This left the degree of penalty up to the court.

Judge Carr immediately began calling witnesses to tell the story of Anna Dreyer's death.

The girl's father, Frederick W. Dreyer, identified clothing found along a lonely highway near Fayette City last Sept. 6 as that which his daughter wore when he last saw her alive. His voice trembled as he spoke.

Joseph Feryok, 30, of Monessen, member of an orchestra playing at the Twin Coaches night club, Route 51, said he had known Miss Dreyer for some time. He said he was going home about 2:30 a. m. the morning of Sept. 1 when he saw the girl talking to a man near the restaurant at which she worked.

Feryok said Miss Dreyer called to him and introduced the man to him as Mr. Hauser.

"She said something about Hauser wanting to take her home," said Feryok. "When I started to leave, I said, 'are you going with Hauser?' She said she was. I helped her into the car and said, 'Good night. Take good care of her.'"

Corp. Charles H. Dewitt, in charge of the Belle Vernon state police substation, told of questioning Hauser the day Anna was reported missing and of being told:

"through the iron lung of government control."

Britain's Labor Regime Censured

London, Dec. 5.—(P)—Oliver Lyttelton presented an opposition labor government today with the motion of censure against Britain's declaration that industry was being kept "in a sort of Whitehall twilight" instead of being helped toward peacetime production.

Opening the Conservative party's formal parliamentary attack on the Laborite government, the former president of the board of trade criticized the Attlee program to nationalize key industries and charged needless delay in demobilization of Britain's armed forces.

In housing, he said, the contribution was "all words and no houses."

Lyttelton declared "the labor administration believed that the breathing of war-depleted British industry could be sustained only 'through the iron lung of government control.'"

Omit Phrase In PTA Letter To Councilmen

In the letter sent to the Town Council by the Community Council of the PTA which is promoting the new Athletic Field as a memorial to men of World War II an omission was made in last evening's Times-Mirror.

In clause No. 5 of the letter the complete reading should be as follows, instead of as it was published:

5. It is planned that the Corporation above mentioned, with the assistance of the P. T. A. and other organizations, will conduct a campaign to raise funds for the construction of the above mentioned memorial with the possibility in mind that in case sufficient funds are not so raised that the Borough will furnish the additional funds, and in case the Borough does not furnish sufficient funds, that the title to the memorial and grounds will be transferred to the Borough of Warren, and that thereafter the Borough will operate and maintain the same.

the fund which annually helps him with his work. One local business house has sent in a check for $100 and the Warren County Salvage Committee also sent in $100. From the American Legion Auxiliary the sum of $5 was secured.

The work of the Alias Santa Claus Fund is carefully done each year and covers homes in the entire county where the spectre of need stalks and gives the mother of kiddies worry about Christmas. It is a splendid movement and has been under way through the Times-Mirror for many years.

Everyone in the county is urged to have a part in this good work. It is so simple to take part. All that one has to do is simply bring or send a donation to the fund to the Times-Mirror office.

No matter how small nor how large it is acceptable and will add to the joy of someone at the Yuletide season.

ACTION POSTPONED

Action in the case of New York state against Harold D. Jacquith, of Columbus is being taken today at Mayville, N. Y. Jacquith failed to see a traffic sign on a highway Monday, Nov. 12 and crashed into a car killing Mrs. Winifred Covey, of Watts Plains. The Columbus man admitted at the time that he did not see the traffic sign and did not stop.

REPAIRING TRAFFIC LIGHT

The traffic light at Hickory street and Pennsylvania avenue has been taken down and a patrolman is directing traffic at this corner during the time the light is down. The weight of the traffic light suspended from cables attached to a pole caused the pole to crack up the sidewalk badly in front of the Community Discount building. Repairs in the walk will be made and the pole reset before the light is replaced.

MISSING THE VOICE

Warren has missed another big Victory Loan campaign feature. It was announced today that the big Navy bombers equipped with the powerful loud speakers which were to broadcast the bond appeal in cross country flights, failed in their trip over Pennsylvania. The device was the same as that used in issuing propaganda to the Japs during the war in the Pacific and could be heard by everyone within a distance of ten miles, it had been announced. Today it was said that Navy bombers carrying the "Voice" did not function properly on its scheduled flight from New York to Pittsburgh and the only community that heard this sensational method of propagandizing the Victory Loan was Harrisburg and its environs. Elsewhere, the "Voice" was silent until the bombers were far beyond the borders of Pennsylvania.

Stores Enjoying Record Sales Thronged With Busy Shoppers

Warren's merchants this year expect to top all Christmas shopping records. Reports from over the state bear out local reports of increased buying and the increase over the whole state promises to be from 5 to 19%. The increase is being shown despite the acute shortage of some lines of merchandise and a slow down in the delivery of durable consumer goods.

Warren merchants stocked as heavily as possible for an expected holiday rush but great inroads have been made on the stocks and the early shoppers are being served. The latecomers will have more trouble in securing items which they desire as the cream has been skinned by the early shoppers.

Most of the stores have been gaily decorated with the tinsel and greens of the season and present an attractive appearance. No concerted plan for trimming store fronts was adopted this year but the Style Shop, Kinnears, Western Auto and Browns Boot Shop have placed greenery and it adds to the Christmas picture. The colored lights at the Penelec building also are attractive.

Added zip has been given the holiday business by the presence in the city of scores of hunters who have spent much money in the stores for souvenirs and gifts to take home with them. Grocery stores have also been well patronized by the hunters who purchased camp supplies in many instances.

Screwball Moran Becomes Press Agent For Own Picture

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Jim Moran, the screwball who sold an Eschsch to an Eskimo and found a needle in a haystack, today has a new achievement. He is the first press agent to appear in his own picture.

Moran is in the employ of Republic Studios to trumpet "Spectre of the Rose," produced by Ben Hecht. He accepted Hecht's invitation to appear in the picture, desiring to prove that press agents can act in front of the camera as well as behind it.

Proving or disproving things is Moran's hobby.

"I don't think he's going to worry about his acting career. He is getting that glint in his eye again and may soon be found near the Mason-Dixon line. His next project: To fire the last shot in the Civil War."

North Warren Citizens Seek Water Plant

Citizens of North Warren, the wide awake suburb to the north, are engaged at present in another attempt to secure a water supply. During the past few months the matter has been discussed and now committees are at work. So far 108 persons have been contacted and 106 have agreed to go along and use the water should a plant finally be started from the wide awake citizens.

It is expected that the new plant will be erected under an authority composed and backed by the citizens. Bonds will be issued and a modern water supply obtained and piped to the homes of the town.

There is another project also buzzing in the bonnets of the North Warren folk as one citizen said this morning. "We expect that by the time we have the water bonds paid off that North Warren will be a borough."

Spike Jones has a funny gimmick. . . . wherever he appears he sends a character about the streets calling loudly and plaintively for "Chloe," which also happens to be one of Spike's band's most popular numbers. . . . Tommy Dorsey discovered that he got a more relaxed effect from his vocal quartet, the Sentimentalists, when they sat around a microphone. . . . therefore, all their recordings and broadcasts now are made that way.

Johnny Desmond, just another band singer before the war, didn't find his career arrested in service but in fact definitely improved. He broadcast overseas with the Glenn Miller band and was known in France as "Le Cremer," because of the creamy quality of his songs. . . . A former Detroit boy, nicknamed in service "The G.I. Sinatra," Johnny was called "The Italian John McCormack" as a youngster in Michigan. . . . Now he has a radio show lined up, a movie contract and a recording series ready to start.

ELLA Reines in town and seems to prefer sergeants. . . . Saw her with three different top kicks three nights in a row. . . . Fortune tellers around the night spots no longer will be known as such. . . . Now they'll be regarded by the police department, with registration cards and henceforth will be identified as "character readers."

Lady Cavendish, she's Fred Astaire's sister and former dance partner, returning to show business, first via radio. . . . Leopold Stokowski admired Danny Kaye's hands while performing. . . . they happen to look very much like Stokie's while that baton-waver conducts his symphonies. . . . One night's visitors at the new Carnival night club to see Martha Raye: Franchot Tone, Virginia Mayo, James Barton, Leo Carrillo, both Dorsey brothers, Gertrude Niesen, Arlene Judge, Eddie Cantor, Eddie Duchin, Henry Youngman, Stella Adler, Toots Shor—all within four tables of yours truly.

BINNIE Barnes wrote a hilarious letter to friends here telling how she was knocked flat by Maureen O'Hara in a movie fight. Binnie has a black eye to prove how realistic were the distasteful cuffs. . . . Evelyn Knight has a new song at the Blue Angel: "There's a Tear in My Beer Tonight."

Bucks Hide From Hunters Obscured By Fog and Snow

Some of the finest buck deer that have been seen in this county in years rode through Warren today on fenders and bumpers of automobiles. Several cars carried two of the fine animals and one string of cars bearing Ohio license plates had 11 deer aboard.

Much of the fog that laid over the countryside during the past few days lifted a little today but the fuzzy snow which clung to tree and shrub has affected visibility conditions and had undoubtedly held down the kill. However thousands of ninruds are still in the woods and it is expected that hundreds of the fleet footed animals will yet be killed.

Practically all of the veteran hunters are satisfied that there are plenty of deer in the woods and that there is a generous average of bucks among them. The trouble since the first day of the season is that low visibility with the temperature dropping low sent the short stay fellows home fearful that conditions would be bad for several days.

However the old timers, who come to camps and boarding houses, prepared to stay moved in last Sunday and there has been no appreciable drop in the number of red coated fellows observed. Near Hearts Content, Scandia and Kinzua there are hundreds of hunters in the Kinzua area near Dewdrop and Morrisons many hunters are in the woods and some five bucks have been brought down.

Many of the bucks have moved back into the protection of thickets of laurel and evergreen but the good hunters will invade their lair once the sun shines and visibility is better.

The drive is continuing for another week and is open to all interested persons in Warren and surrounding communities. Lectures will be given in Founders Hall of First Methodist church and membership is limited to 400 persons.

Named in the tentative list are Dr. William Stidger, of Boston; James L. Vick, Washington; Dr. James Bender, New York City; J. N. Eads, Chicago; Walter Honigsmeyer, Cincinnati; John B. Hughes, of west coast broadcast fame, and Col. M. Thomas Tchou, former secretary to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Citations Are Being Given to War Workers

Men and women of the county who aid in the work of the Council of Defense during the period of emergency due to the war will receive citations for the work done. The citations are being prepared and will be given out at some later date. Several will also receive citations from the state.

In the salvage work county many workers long and hard and they will also receive citations for the accomplishment of much to aid in defeating the Axis powers.

Letters to the Editor

HAS RIGHT IDEA

Editor Times-Mirror: Noted in an editorial last evening that "Angie" Karlson, councilman from the Seventh ward has been doing some constructive thinking. He suggests that a project be made for the straightening out of Indian Run. That is the most sensible suggestion made in Council in some time. Indian Run has absorbed thousands of dollars in years by the many penny way Council does business. Now it is proposed to spend a few thousands more by city and Warren County Dairy. Lets follow the Karlson plan, it makes sense. Taxpayer.

Reply Is Made By Westinghouse Co.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5—(P)—Denying that an offer of a 5½ day workweek in its plant, wherever practicable, was "phoney," the Westinghouse Electric Corp. said today the plan would "increase the take-home pay of the average hourly-paid employee by 15 per cent."

George R. Bucher, president of the company, answered the demand of the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers for "immediate rehiring of all the 30,000 returning war veterans and all employees laid off following the V-E and V-J day," by saying: "Westinghouse has 27,780 employees in service. It is impossible to rehire them all 'immediately' because more than 23,000 of them either have not been rehired from service or have not yet approached Westinghouse for their old jobs."

The union statement, issued yesterday, said the Westinghouse offer was merely to use a 5½ day workweek where bottlenecks required immediate production and added: "This has always been a policy of the company. The offer contains nothing new."

THE ART OF NAME-CALLING

The other day Senator Wherry of Nebraska chided Senator Connally of Texas for using the word "damn" in some remarks addressed to his colleagues. The word, said the gentleman from Nebraska, "is beneath the dignity of the Senate."

Senator Connally explained that he was quoting someone else when he used the horrid word. Nevertheless he seems to have been about as contrite as a senator ever gets on his home grounds. He withdrew the four-letter embellishment from his discourse. Next morning the Congressional Record, purged of the offending word appeared as chaste as always, though probably making no more sprightly reading than usual.

So the traditional dignity of the Senate was preserved. But sometimes we wish that Congress as a whole would add a little new dignity to its traditional accumulation by outlawing certain epithets, not profane but decidedly opprobrious, which the legislators often toss about in a loose and undocumented fashion.

We refer to such words as Fascist, Communist, America First, Bolshevik and so on, when they are used not factually and with demonstrable proof, but simply for the purpose of slapping down a critic or changing an embarrassing subject.

The use of such words isn't daily occurrence. But over a period of time the members of Congress have polished this practice into something of an art. It was bad enough when it was just the street-corner or bar-room variety of name-calling that we all could understand, if not appreciate. Now, however, the practice shows signs of becoming rarefied and specialized, of assuming a technical complexity which only the initiated can comprehend.

A frightening symptom of this was exhibited by Senator Wheeler of Montana on the very day, incidentally, that Mr. Connally got called down for using the naughty word. In the course of a speech Mr. Wheeler referred to some of his detractors as "internationalists-isolationists."

Now there's a jaw-breaking, mind-staggering insult, no doubt about it. But what does it mean? Internationalist-isolationist. Or you can try it on backward. Isolationist-internationalist. It still gets you nowhere.

Come, come, senator, elucidate. Is this person one who insists that we mind our own business on our own little planet and not get mixed up in quarrels on Mars or Saturn that don't concern us? Or what? Please put us straight. It's bad enough to be annoyed by congressional name-calling. But to be confused by it as well is just too much.

PAYING BIG DIVIDENDS

Warren county is gradually becoming sold on the idea of welcoming hunters, fishermen and other visitors seeking an outing in our woods and on our streams and the little publication by the Chamber of Commerce listing places available for hunters is paying dividends. The influx of hunters has left a trail of money in the towns of the county and in scores of homes. This all comes to Warren which is the shopping center for a large area.

Not only during the hunting season could the county attract visitors, but hundreds, aye, thousands, could be brought here to play and frolic in the woodlands if there were places for them to stay. Private capital must furnish this facility for the visitors and money spent erecting cottages would pay big dividends. R. R. Hemingway, supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, has been preaching this to folks in this section for years and results should be obtained.

City folk yearn for the open county and mothers and children could be attracted to Warren county's play area if an organized effort were put forth to provide them with quarters.

What with all of the suggestions for the curbing of the wave of strikes about the nation it begins to look to a man up a tree that if the Unions were placed under the same jurisdictions as corporations submitting financial reports, paying taxes and made legally responsible the problem would move a long way toward solution. However the legislators seem to lack sufficient backbone to pass a law carrying out those objectives.

Stamp News

OVERSHADOWING all other philatelic developments now are the arrangements started late in November to dispose of the late President Roosevelt's personal stamp collection.

Now in the hands of H. R. Harmer, Inc., international stamp auctioneers, the more than 650 albums holding the stamps Mr. Roosevelt collected from boyhood stand for "philately" to non-collectors. Their disposal will have as much interest for such persons as to philatelists who long have speculated over the extent and value of the Roosevelt collection.

Bernard Harmer, of the auction company, has estimated the value of the collection at between $75,000 and $100,000. Bidding undoubtedly will be high when the collection is offered for sale early next year.

The 150 albums do not include, it is announced, the gifts from foreign countries which Mr. Roosevelt received while President. Those collections, which include stamps of Brazil, Turkey and other nations, will be preserved in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park.

Last of the new U. S. stamps scheduled for release this year, the Texas centennial commemorative will be placed on first-day sale at Austin, Tex., Dec. 29. The design features an American flag with a ray shining from the Texas state flag. The word "Texas" appears in a vertical panel at the left and the inscription "statehood 1845-1945" in two lines in the lower center. The color of the three-cent stamp will be announced later.

AS FOUNDER of Soviet Russia's government, Nikolai Lenin is a familiar subject of Russian stamps. Latest postal tribute to the Russian leader is a set of five stamps marking the 75th anniversary of his birth. The stamps portray Lenin in various poses. They include: 20 kopeks gray-black, Lenin at his desk reading the newspaper Pravda; 50 k gray-brown, Lenin at his desk in the Kremlin; 60 k brown-orange, Lenin making a speech; one kule green-black, Lenin standing in front of the palace of the Czar Nicholas the Second, and three rubles brown, one of the last portraits of Lenin before his death.

Nicaragua plans the most elaborate postal tribute to the late President Roosevelt yet announced. Gen. Anastasio Somoza, president of the Central American nation, has ordered a commemorative set of 11 denominations—six regular postage and five airmail—in honor of Mr. Roosevelt.

One of the stamps will picture "Roosevelt the Philatelist" and in his decree General Somoza said stamps were selected as a medium of tribute because of Mr. Roosevelt's keen interest in stamp collecting, and that stamps are "a recognized vehicle for the dissemination of the different types of human knowledge and, because of their vast circulation, they are an effective medium" for Nicaragua to express its friendship.

The total issue will number 295,000 airmail and 1,450,000 regular postage stamps. The Nicaraguan embassy in Washington says the stamps are expected to be released about next March.

A hundred thousand orange 25-centavo airmails and 300,000 green eight-centavo regular stamps will illustrate Mr. Roosevelt's Atlantic conference of Aug. 14, 1941. Another 100,000 pink 75-centavo airmails and 300,000 dark navy blue ten-centavo regular stamps will depict him signing the declaration of war against Japan.

Sixty-five thousand dark lilac one-cordoba ($0.97) airmails and 100,000 red 16-centavo regular stamps will tell the story of Mr. Roosevelt at the Casablanca conference in North Africa. A total of 15,000 violet 3.00 cordobas ($2.91) airmails and 125,000 chocolate-brown 32-centavo regular stamps will show him at the Tehran conference.

Fifteen thousand brown 5.00 cordoba ($4.85) airmails and 125,000 gray 50-centavo regular stamps will carry a Roosevelt portrait. One issue of 500,000 olive four-centavo stamps for regular mail use will depict "Roosevelt the Philatelist."

THE American Air Mail Society is at work on a new edition of the "American Air Mail Catalogue" which Society in its November issue of its official publication, The Airpost Journal, extends greetings to aerophilatelists abroad and urges mutual aid and cooperation to "weld together the aerophilatelic world by a common effort."

NEW Polish issues reported by J. and H. Stolorow of New York include a one-plus-nine zloty stamp picturing bombardment of Polish troops on Westerplatte by the Nazi heavy cruiser Schleswig-Holstein and five values commemorating the liberation of Warsaw and picturing statues and buildings in Warsaw.

ROAD SIGN REPAIR PROGRAM INTENSIFIED

Harrisburg—District Engineers and maintenance superintendents of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways were instructed to intensify their "sign maintenance program."

Secretary John U. Shroyer, who has covered the State on an inspection tour, said these directional signs, which appear at all improved highway intersections on the State Highway System, are in need of repairs such as relettering for legibility, repainting, correction of position, and in some cases an entirely new sign is needed.

Work on the sign maintenance will be done without interfering with other important seasonal work.

Bee Specialist Gives Talk To 4-H Clubbers

Pennsylvania's new extension bee specialist, P. G. Craddock, was welcomed to Forest county by 24 members and friends of the 4-H Bee Club at their meeting Wednesday night in the home of Club Leader Frank L. Watson, Tionesta.

In talking to the Club, Mr. Craddock pointed out four things necessary in preparing a hive of bees for winter. These are: plenty of young bees, enough food in the hive, winter food of good quality, and some protection against the cold.

Possessing a wide and varied experience in beekeeping, apiculturist Craddock will work with beekeepers throughout the state, assisting in honey production, disease control, and other phases of Pennsylvania's apiculture industry. He is a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute where he also was awarded his master's degree, and for eight years served as state apiculture inspector for North Carolina.

Before coming to Pennsylvania, he served for the past year on the agricultural extension entomology staff in Georgia devoting more than half his time to beekeeping in that state. He also spent one season with one of Pennsylvania's largest beekeepers, studying methods and problems of apiculture in this state.

In addition to his work with beekeepers and their organizations, Craddock will also assist the many 4-H bee clubs in which boys and girls learn to build up and maintain colonies of bees, such as the Forest County Bee Club. This year, members of 4-H bee clubs produced 7,680 pounds of honey in the State, of which 2855 pounds were made by the 31 4-H club colonies in Forest county.

Three major discoveries in the single year 1932 made most present-day atom splitting development possible. The discoveries were the neutron, positron and heavy hydrogen.

Congested Cities Wrestling With Stop-Gap Solution As Building Boom Is Awaited

BY BILL GLOVER

AP News Feature Writer

New York, Dec. 5.—(A.P.)—Many of America's crowded towns and cities are hunting hard for temporary cures to housing congestion, others are simply waiting—and all are hoping for the day when an incipient multi-billion dollar building boom starts supplying the long-term solution.

An Associated Press survey shows that, although housing conditions should be pretty rosy after 1947, returning servicemen and war-shifted workers, in the meantime, probably will have to keep on living the way they are now, by doubling up with the old folks or occupying makeshift quarters.

Planners are having a frenetic field day as they strive for stop-gap sedatives or work out long-range schemes for controlling properly everything from the cost of individual homes to the direction of municipal development. No one has found the complete answer.

Many communities have been crossed up on their expectancy that the situation would adjust itself as migrant war workers returned whence they came.

A lot of war workers seem quite satisfied to stay put in their new surroundings.

Most public officials and real estate men believe it will take two years to work out the following factors in the housing picture:

1. Lack of building materials.
2. Uncertainty concerning future government housing provisions and regulations for the building industry.

The three factors are interwoven and none can be solved independently. Firms reconverting from war work have been delayed in obtaining supplies and getting production moving, and one big plumbing concern, for example, is able to turn out only about 10 per cent of normal bathtub production thus far. Philadelphia pipe firms are taking orders now for delivery next September. Nails are almost unobtainable in quantity.

Labor shortages have resulted from lags in the return to manufacturing and building trades of servicemen and war-shifted workers, and from extended wage discussions locally and regionally. Chicago builders, for example, charge piling of workmen despite ceiling scales. Cement block makers in Florida in shut down, claiming wage increases made it impossible to sell products at a profit within ceiling limitations. Seattle has a shortage of building inspectors because the pay is better in architects' offices.

Some large-scale real estate operators and builders have refrained from building apartments or home developments because of ceilings, they say, make no allowance for war-inflated building and maintenance costs. Builders and real estate men in many sections frankly say they won't get going until government restrictions are lifted, or until they know regulations won't hamper construction for reasonable profit.

There is no doubt, despite these conditions, that the people—little guys and insurance company giants—have the money as well as the desire to build.

The architectural forum magazine reported that a survey showed 2,778,000 of the nation's 37,000,000 families have money ready to buy or build homes within the next three years. The Dow Service Daily Building reports forecast that, with facilities available $4,900,000,000 would be spent for residential housing during the next year.

Every community in the land, from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore., with a housing headache today, is full of plans for construction, but practical plans for immediate accomplishment are scarce.

The Battle For Markets Is Already Started In England

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
A World Traveler

London—The war is over (or is it?) but the people of England are finding fresh reason to recall the historic warning by Winston Churchill early in the conflict that he had nothing but blood, sweat and tears to offer them as they went out to meet the German hosts.

That was in the dark days when Hitler's troops had much of Europe beneath their hob-nailed boots and the fates of Britain and many other countries were in the balance. Churchill spoke with the tongue of a prophet. England gave her blood. She gave her tears until they ran dry. But though that phase of the war is in the background, there still remains the sweat.

England is facing a long period of sweat and privation which may be even harder to bear than the thrills of war, because the stimulus of the battlefield and the urge for self-defense are lacking.

Yesterday Mrs. Mac and I told you that the people of England are mighty tired and more than a bit discouraged because there is no sign of any relief in the way of better food or other necessities. They had thought that once the war was over these things would improve—but that is not so.

The reason for this is one of the unusual developments of the war. England's foreign trade is her lifeblood. Naturally she lost most of it during the conflict because her resources were wholly directed to war purposes. Now she is faced with the problem (1) of restoring that all-important foreign trade, and (2) giving the home population the thousand-and-one things they need after more than four years of war—and she can't do both at the same time.

The upshot of this is that the government has decided to devote most of its manufactures to foreign markets. In short, it is calling on a very weary population for a lot more sacrifice and sweat. There is to be a battle royal for world markets.

Committees have been appointed. Sir Stauffer (austerity) Cripps says the purpose of these committees is to "get industry in the position to meet the very hard competition they are going to meet in about two years' time." He states that all major industries of the country are going to be lined up. These include cotton, pottery, furniture, hosiery, boots and shoes.

It takes a fair amount to make John Bull laugh these days. But he developed a broad grin over an incident that befell Sir Stauffer while addressing leaders of the automobile industry. Sir Stauffer declared that the people of England should go without cars so that exports can be built up. This brought cries of "no! no!" and "Tripe!" from some of his hearers. It developed they were dealers for the home trade. Sir Stauffer apparently hadn't been advised they were present.

Well, now, what does all this mean to the man-in-the-street and his missus? The distasteful side of this column England well through long residence here, has been investigating this point.

One thing that has impressed her especially is the large number of pinched faces one sees, and I had noted that too. There are two reasons for that—one being the strain of the war and the terrific bombing which England endured, and the other, the thin and monotonous diet.

Chapter 17

[Monday 11:55 a.m. to 4 p.m.]

FRANK and Jerry came in before the police had gone and Frank talked to the Inspector in the library. Gertrude had been allowed to clean up the salon and Moore was putting sandwiches and salad on the dining table. In the cocktail room Jerry mixed drinks for the two women. Julia's spirit of defiance had died leaving her dimly aware of her position from the viewpoint of the police.

The entrance of Frank with Venable had a stimulating effect on all of them. Jerry asked them what they wanted and handed both scotch and soda. "I trust you didn't poison the Inspector's Jerry," said the Homicide Squad of New York City has more inspectors than poor Luxembourg had soldiers," said Virginia.

Jerry grinned. "The Inspector knows that poison is a woman's amateur. I kick my victims out of windows and let gravity finish them off."

"Jerry!" Julia's tone was horrified. "That's odd," said the Inspector, "because that's exactly what I believe was done—the man was kicked."

Frank was not paying attention to Venable. He looked at Jerry in disgust. "I'd say that's very poor taste."

Virginia laughed shortly. "This murder business gets us down, Inspector."

"I'm trying to be the comedy relief," Jerry went on, unperturbed. "Humorists are never suspected of the crime."

"That humorist of yours is a crime, sweet," Virginia turned a critical glance on the Inspector. "Bet you never had such a luscious bunch of suspects, now did you?"

"Let's say such a glamorous bunch," he amended. "You wouldn't exactly call Moore—"

"Don't tell me I'm not on your list," Jerry pleaded in a falsetto voice.

"Oh, definitely darling," Virginia answered him. "You wouldn't put Jerry in the back row would you now? He has such obvious suspect ability."

The Inspector listened and watched. If he thinks he can learn anything from them he doesn't know their faculty for making things more obtuse. Julia thought. He parried their thrusts expertly but made no attempt to lead the conversation. He hardly glanced at her out of the corner of her eye. Julia watched him constantly. He didn't seem to be suffering from her bitter denunciation. Which only went to prove that he hadn't meant a word he said.

"I'll wager I can solve this case before you do," Virginia challenged.

"Lord, Ginnie, don't you know amateurs are the bane of a detective's existence," interposed Frank.

enable sat his glass on the bar with a sharp click. "When do we get questioned again?" asked Virginia. "You have to take your turn. The scotch was illuminating Mrs. Baker."

Their glances crossed for one sparkling instant. When he left the animation in the room seemed to go with him.

"What was so illuminating about it?" Jerry wanted to know. "I wonder," said Julia.

"We all talk too much," Frank sighed. "It's hard to remember that suspects are safer silent."

"What a sizzling altercation!" commented Virginia. The door bell chimed and Grace and Steinway came through to the bar before Moore could announce them.

"What are you doing—revisiting the scene of the crime?" Jerry inquired rudely.

"Do you mind?" Grace asked

Julia throwing a fox cape on the bench.

"No. Are you feeling better now?"

"I feel like neil. Frank, why didn't you close the show?"

The show goes on. And on it went. Julia stayed until they had begun eating then she slipped away. If anyone was going to clear Julia it looked like it was pretty much up to herself. The first thing she wanted to do was find out if there were any replies to her ad. It would serve the Inspector right if she solved his case for him.

She repaired her makeup and pulled a dark blue felt hat over her curls and out on a dark coat so she wouldn't be easily identified by any detective who might follow her.

She went through Robey's suite to the foyer. There was a policeman in the corridor outside but he did not appear to take much notice of her. It wasn't until the elevator stopped on the main floor that she remembered the report-

"How do I get out the back way from here," she asked the elevator boy.

"I'll fix you up, Ma'am." He had brought an attendant. "Take Mrs. Baker out the back way." She opened her purse for a tin and saw it was empty. "I'll have to get some money. Where is the manager?"

The boy took her to the manager's office and he gave her a hundred dollars and said he would "fix it on her bill."

She was out finally through the passageway and on the street. She took a taxi and told the driver to go to Altman's at the 24th Street entrance. There were no signs of a car following but she got out at the department store and went in. She went out on Fifth Avenue and took a cab to the Times Square building where she had been told to get any replies.

There were no replies yet. The clerk told her and nodded to some one back in the cab. A man came in and took her arm.

"This way, lady."

"Where are you taking me to?" "Headquarters."

"No."

"I seek only justice. If you aren't guilty you don't need a lawyer."

At that moment she believed him.

"I only saw her across the street," she began slowly. "I was standing at my window that faces Central Park. She was at the north end of the park talking to my husband. He gave her some money. She didn't need to tell about the paper the woman had given Robey. She took it and started across the street when a puff of wind carried her red hat to the top of the cab. The driver didn't see it and it rode away on the cab."

"What else was she wearing?" "A black dress with a full skirt and a red petticoat. She had black gloves, red purse, black, high-heeled shoes and a fur coat. It looked like fox. Her hair was in a long bob, page boy style and blonde."

"How tall was she?" "Shorter than my husband. But she stood higher than I did next to him. Probably five feet, five or six inches."

"You saw all this from the window?" "Through the binoculars. I was watching the crowd and happened to notice them."

"You knew they were going to be there, right?" "No. It was purely an accident that I saw them."

"Why did you advertise in the paper to find the woman?" "I thought she might know something that would solve all this mystery."

After a pause Venable said, "Your description is good. Now I'm going to see if you can identify her."

"Oh, you know her. Is she here?" New hope rose in Julia. "She's at the morgue," said Venable. His eyes seemed to press against her.

Labor Units Support Sale Of 1945 Seals

Many labor groups are cooperating with tuberculosis societies in promoting the 1945 Christmas Seal sale, according to H. M. Mohr, local sale chairman. Support of the tuberculosis control work of the National Tuberculosis Association and its 2,500 affiliated associations has been urged by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. In statements endorsing the 39th annual Christmas Seal sale.

"The people of America enlisted as a unit to fight for the preservation of American ideals of life and liberty," said Mr. Green. "Let us remain as a unit and battle against tuberculosis by purchasing and using the official National Tuberculosis Association Christmas Seals."

Mr. Murray praised the work of the associations in conducting industrial x-ray surveys and in rehabilitation, which, he said, "should prove of great value to America's working men and women."

"The voluntary or citizen fight against tuberculosis, designed for the protection of all residents of the community, is supported," explained Mr. Mohr, secretary of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society, "by proceeds from the annual Christmas Seal sale. Of the money raised, 95 per cent is expended within the state for the benefit of people in the local communities."

"The function of the National Association is similar in many respects to that of the international office of a union. Local tuberculosis associations are autonomous bodies but receive help and counsel from the national and state tuberculosis organizations in working out local problems. The National Association also finances medical research, a service which benefits the whole tuberculosis movement, but which could not well be performed by small groups."

PLAYING SAFE WINS IF HAND'S IN DOUBT

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

There are several ways to play today's hand, but I am giving it to you because of the interesting play that came up when declarer decided to pull two rounds of trumps. It looks as if the contract of four spades would be easy. Nevertheless, West found himself in a predicament after winning the opening lead with the ace of hearts and taking two rounds of trumps and the club finesse.

If he led the ace of clubs, South would trump it, cash a diamond and a heart, and declarer would be unable to establish the club suit fast enough to make it.

West, however, made a beautiful safety play. After winning the queen of clubs finesse, a small club was led, and now South was helpless. He trumped with the ten of spades, cashed the king of diamonds and king of hearts. But regardless of what he did then, declarer still had two entries into dummy, one in which to establish the club suit and the other to get in to dummy to cash the suit.

If West had not pulled any trumps, but led diamonds immediately, five-odd might have been made.

Mission Group To Play Is Ready Begin 23rd Season For Production

Beginning its 23rd season, the Interdenominational Mission Study Group will hold its initial meeting at 2:30 p. m. Friday in First Lutheran church, with Epworth Methodist and Salem Evangelical parishes cooperating.

Guest speaker, provided by the hostess unit, will be Mrs. M. J. Harder, wife of the Lutheran pastor at Johnsonburg and president of the North East Conference Missionary Society. The Harders are fairly new to this section, having come here from the midwest several years ago, but many in Warren have met Mrs. Harder and were impressed with her manner of speaking.

Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. Carl Jones, of Salem church, with music by an Epworth member, Mrs. Nick Merenick.

Officers of the group are Mrs. C. W. Edgett, chairman; Mrs. Ernest Kaebnick, vice chairman; Mrs. L. E. Nason, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. R. Schultze, Mrs. L. W. Garber, Mrs. F. H. Hetrick, Mrs. H. C. Warren and Mrs. J. W. Rohrer, program committee.

At an early fall meeting of the executive committee, it was voted to extend an invitation to this season's meetings to members of all nearby rural community churches, and it is hoped that many of these will respond and be present for this first gathering of the new season.

"Past Matrons' Night" Observed By Eastern Star

Eastern Star members observed "Past Matrons' Night" for their monthly gathering on Tuesday evening, with Worthy Matron Grace Schuler welcoming the 18 persons so honored.

The room was decorated in the Christmas style, with greens, Yule logs and candles for the attractively arranged tables.

Dorothy Schultze supervised the presentation of a pantomime, "The Most Precious Thing," written by Mary Eddy, dramatics instructor of Bradford High School. Those taking part were Anne Levenson, Gertrude Babcock, Martha Swick, Harriet Gough, Lavina Warner, Alice Redding, Alice McDonald, Fanny Cogswell, Virginia Hedges and Violetta Hutchens.

For the social hour which followed, past matrons were seated at one long table and Elva Reardon and Ethel Smedley presided at a second. The refreshments committee was headed by Gertrude Leuthold and Sylvia Walters and Alice McDonald handled the decorations.

Piano Students In Recital and Party

Mrs. E. W. Miller and her class of piano students were entertained Monday evening for a recital and Christmas party at the home of Ronald McCain at Starbrick, with a fine attendance of parents to enjoy the program and the Christmas tree and refreshments.

Participating in the evening's program were Joanne, Romane and Albert Kondak, Gerry Hucksbone, Doris Mason, Alice Smithers, Anita Miller, Larry and Vivian Slagle, Betty Garvin, Danny and Eleanor Jackson, Donna Winchester and Marjorie Kitzinger, Lois Egger and Clark Grosch.

The young people showed an accuracy and precision in their playing that denoted fine training and careful preparation in all numbers, a performance that reflects credit upon both instructor and students.

DIAMOND GROUP BUSY WITH PLANS

At the regular meeting of Diamond Grange, held last evening at Tonia, it was decided to include an anniversary program in the next regular meeting on December 18. This will also be a Christmas party and each one is asked to bring a 25-cent gift for exchange. All those having children who are under twelve years of age are asked to notify Virginia Baldensperger prior to the party. Christmas packages will be sent by the Grange to its boys still in service. Also voted last evening was the dinner plan in January, and those plan to start a quarterly birthday who have had birthdays in October, November and December were asked to notify the secretary, Gladys Culbertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Church, Jackson avenue extension, this city, were chosen as delegates to represent Diamond unit at the State Grange sessions to be held in Clearfield on December 11, 12 and 13. Among others from the county who have planned to attend the sessions are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Schweitzer.

Shed a Tear For Suzy

Oh, Pity Suzy the Shop Girl is the theme song of many writers as the busy Christmas shopping season arrives, but it remains for Arlene Wolf, P. feature writer for the Times-Mirror, to suggest a new idea, a D.M. Distinguished Selling Medal—for the deserving Suzy and her sisters behind the counter. Despite what you've experienced with snappy sales clerks during the wartime years, Suzy's been told to be courteous. The trouble is, no one has told the customers that half of the courtesy should be on their own side of the counter. The shop girl is daily surrounded by customers who haven't had the good sense to find out in advance what size glove or slip they want. Unless Suzy is one of the store's old selling standbys, she's not a specialist. She may work at the cosmetic counter one day and in the toy department the next. In the week before Christmas, she may be called upon to sell neckties, refrigerators or tablecloths. By the week's end, she wishes she had taken up scrubbing floors, instead. Comes Christmas, and her troubles have just begun. On December 26th she's again behind the counter, bracing herself for the post-Christmas exchange orgy. Suzy and her sisters exchange at least 15 per cent of the little parcels of Yuletide cheer, and nine-tenths of the exchanges are from women who didn't want silver bangles with gold trimmings. They wanted gold bangles with silver trimmings. Three times as many women's articles come back to roost as men's. And the more expensive and impractical the gift, the better chance it has of being returned, store executives say. While this ten-day derby is on, Suzy suffers. Nevertheless, she has to be alert, sympathetic, and very interested in the swapping of a pink lace nightgown, size 16, for a size 40, seersucker. How would you like to be Suzy?

DRAGONS WALLOP DUTCHMEN, 58-28 FOR SECOND WIN

Babcock Paces Locals With 25 Points; Massmen Start Preparing For Jamestowners

Warren High's "Big Five" got off to a slow start last night on the basketball court but they came through in the final two quarters to whitewash the St. Mary's Dutchmen, 58-28, for their second win before a packed house.

Six foot two inch forward Al Babcock gunned mentor Joseph Mass' into the second half, leading the Dragons by dropping 11 field goals and 3 fouls through the hoop for a grand total of 25 points. Towing center Jack Eaton followed with 10.

The Dragonmen appeared slightly improved in their exhibition last night, but ball handling and teamwork still remain definite factors which will have to be ironed out.

Massa sends his proteges against strong, tall Jamestown five Friday night on the Jamestown High school court.

Last night's contest was slow starting, and at the end of the first quarter the locals held but meager, 9-1 lead. The Dutchmen caught the Dragons off-guard by bringing a pressing, man-for-man defense, and the local aspirants were unable to cock their sights until the second and third quarters.

Too much contact, over-aggressiveness, and fouling marked last night's episode, and Referee Abele was forced to call 35 personals against the combined players.

Alphonse Gorman, St. Mary's point-guard, was eliminated from the game in the fourth period on fouls, and two Dragons were nipped for their apiece.

At halftime, after a thrilling second quarter, Mentor Massa's outfit had increased its margin to 17-7. It was not until the third quarter that the "Big Five" finally found the hoop, and they dealt a bang-up battle out of the game from there on in.

Last night's 58 points collected by the locals was one of the highest scores to be rolled up by the High School quint since 1941, when Conroy, Tucker, and Company rolled up some 70 points over Youngsville. All told, the locals now have 112 points recorded to their opponents' 42.

The Dragons literally rocked the St. Mary's boat in the third quarter as they chalked up 21 points. Local foul shooting appeared on the upgrade in the Tuesday night game with a percentage of 10 out of 19 successes. At the end of the third, Warren had a 42-17 lead, and then the second five entered

Army vs. Pros

By now, most every person in the nation has heard some inkling emanating from the National Professional Football League that the No. 1 team of the country's college gridiron eleven, Army should meet one of the pro teams in an exhibition game.

Proponents of the suggestion, who come mostly from within the professional ranks, believe that such a meeting would be a great morale builder for hundreds of thousands of wounded veterans as well as contributing monetarily to some sort of war relief. Various uses have been designated for which money could be profitably spent. Among them are: (1) to be used to decrease the national debt; (2) to be used for United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association; to aid in establishing modern, well-equipped veterans' hospitals in the nation; and (4) to aid in the development of all types of athletics in the nation.

Should the invincible Cadets agree to meet one of the pro teams, probably Philadelphia, Washington, New York, or Cleveland, it would be putting Army's brilliant two-year record on the block with a possibility of it being snapped. War Department and West Point officials have said "no" time and time again, but still the pro moguls continue to criticize these departments for their failure to foresee the great use such a game would have.

So-Called 'Winds' Message Signalling Break With U. S. Not Broadcast by Japanese

(From Page One) intercepted such a message. Word has not yet been received from the British and Dutch in response to a request for similar information, he added. Mitchell told the committee he was explaining what committee counsel had found out, because he knew that Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, former head of the army war plans division, and Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, would be questioned about it. Gerow took the stand today and Marshall will testify tomorrow. The committee wanted to question Gen. Gerow about a Nov. 27, 1941, memorandum he gave to Gen. Marshall. This reported that Henry L. Stimson opposed any army-navy recommendation for continuance of diplomatic negotia- tions with the Japanese at that time. Gerow said in his notation that Stimson, then secretary of war, wanted to be sure that a memo- randum Marshall and Adm. Harold R. Stark were having drafted "would not be construed as a re- commendation to the president that he request Japan to reopen the conversations."

The Gerow memorandum went on to say that Stimson was "re- assured on that point" by the war plans chief. When the Marshall-Stark memo- randum went to the president, it made no mention of the diplomatic negotiations with Japan and did not repeat a November 5 recom- mendation that no ultimatum be given the Japanese. It recommended, instead, that "prior to the completion of the Philippine reinforcement, military counter-action be considered only if Japan attacks or directly threat- ens United States, British or Dutch territory x x x."

Marshall and Stark said that any Japanese advance into Thai- land west of 100 degrees east or south of 10 degrees north, "im- mediately becomes a threat to Burma and Singapore." "Until it is patent that Japan intends to advance beyond these lines, no action which might lead to immediate hostilities should be undertaken," the memorandum said. It set out that United States, British and Dutch military au- thorities in the Far East had agreed "that joint military counter-action against Japan" should be un- dertaken only under these conditions.

Murray Breaks Sharply With Truman Over Labor Policies (From Page One) Earlier in the day, Murray wired the White House that the Truman proposals "will be brought to the attention of the steelworkers" wage war committee Tuesday, December 11." This will be during a three-day session of the com- mittee to consider further action on the recent steelworkers' NLRB ballot, in which the union ap- proved, by a five to one vote, call- ing a strike to back up a $2 a day wage demand.

Murray, in his radio address, quoted the Office of War Mobiliza- tion as having reported "that American industry can raise wages and salaries 24 per cent and still earn twice as much take home profits as it did before the war."

IRANIAN REQUEST IS REJECTED BY SOVIETS

Tehran, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Rus- sians have refused in a second note to the Iran government, to permit entrance of additional Iranian troops into the troubled north- western province of Azerbaijan, it was disclosed today. The new Soviet note came dur- ing a tense political situation, with Iranian Premier Hakiemi threaten- ing to resign unless the dispute over the province was settled by direct negotiation with Moscow. Iranian troops, ordered to the province which is the scene of a local autonomy movement, still were bivouacked at Sharifabad, where they were halted Nov. 20 by the Russians. Soviet troops have occupied the province since 1941, when they were sent to guard the Russian lend-lease sup- ply line.

Negotiations With Union Are Postponed

(From Page One) No interruption of Chrysler op- erations was expected to result from the contract termination. On previous occasions, during con- tract negotiations, UAW-CIO members have continued to work pending a new agreement. Conder said the union had made no offer on wages other than its original demand for a 30 per cent increase, and had rejected a com- pany proposal that new rates "re- flect the same percentage increase over the period prior to the Lit- tle Steel formula as the bureau of labor statistics shows living costs increased since then."
